NEW SITUATION IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Membership Unchanged as Germany Takes Seat and Spain Prepares To Quit

Geneva, Sept 11—The League of Nations starts a new phase in its career today.

Germany sits high in the councils of the league but Spain has announced her withdrawal.

The formal Spanish note giving the usual two years notice of withdrawal was delivered today leaving the numerical strength of the league exactly where it was yesterday before Germany took her seat.

League leaders although visibly concerned over the withdrawal of Spain live in hopes that before Spain's two years of notice have expired she will have reconsidered and will again take her place in the assembly. It is generally understood here that the Spanish decision to withdraw was not based solely on the refusal of a permanent seat in the council to Spain but that the decision was taken after it became apparent to Spain that her demands for a reorganization of the Tangier administration would not be met.

GERMAN TESTIFIES IN DAUGHERTY-MILLER HEARING

Foremost among the early witnesses called by the prosecution in the Daugherty-Miller trial at New York is Richard Merton of Frankfort, Germany, above, who as agent for a Swiss metallurgical concern yesterday told how he paid the alleged $441,000 bribe to the late John T. King in a New York banking house.

MERTON TO BE REQUIZZED ON BRIBE CHARGE

Colonel Williams' Assistant Also Will Be Called by Defense Council

New York, Sept 11—Cross-examination of Richard Merton, German industrial financier, the government's star witness in the trial of Harry M Daugherty, former attorney general, and Col Thomas W Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government will be resumed today.

It was learned today that the defense plans to call George R Williams, first assistant to Colonel Miller. Williams was mentioned frequently in the testimony and at one point Buckner described him as a conspirator but his name does not appear in the conspiracy indictment.

Merton on the stand related how and why he had paid $441,000—$391,000 in bonds and $50,000 by check—to the late John T King in 1921 in consideration of the transfer of the $7,000,000 German equity in the American Metal Company's assets seized by the government at the time of the war to the German-controlled Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Metaux.

Buckner brought out through Merton's testimony that he, Merton, had never met Daugherty to discuss the claims of the Societe Suisse and that he had not talked more than five minutes altogether with the representatives whom Daugherty had empowered to pass upon the $7,000,000 claim. As for Miller, Merton testified that after a cursory going over of what Merton hoped to accomplish on his mission to this country Colonel Miller had referred him to George N Williams, the alien property custodian's first assistant and that Williams had represented Colonel Miller thereafter.

LENGEL TRIAL EVIDENCE TO GO TO GRAND JURY

New Lines of Investigation May Be Opened as Result of Hearing

SLATER CALLED BACK

Municipal Judge Refuses To Lower $5,000 Bond of Carl Studer

Canton, Sept 11—A Stark County grand jury will be given much valuable evidence that developed at the Civil Service Commission hearing of [illegible] Police Chief S A Lengel which concluded yesterday, County Prosecutor C B McClintock declared today.

New lines of investigation may be opened through information which developed at that hearing, the prosecutor stated.

McClintock also said that he had wired Detective Ora Slater, Columbus, who was brought here to investigate the Don R Mellett murder.

He indicated that Slater would return here the first of next week.

Won't Cut Bond

"The investigation will be resumed with all of its original thoroughness and if necessary I will ask for additional funds to carry on the work," McClintock asserted.

Municipal Judge A [illegible] Snyder today refused to lower the $5,000 bond of Carl Studer and upon the request of [illegible] Herman, Cleveland attorney, continued the hearing of the perjury charges against him until next Wednesday.

Suspended Detective Floyd Streitenberger was automatically removed from the police force today when he failed to appear at his scheduled hearing before Safety Director Earl Hexamer. Streitenberger may now appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

OUSTER PROCEEDINGS AGAINST ESCHLIMAN

Columbus, Sept 11—Ouster proceedings in the form of a petition in quo warranto seeking the dismissal of David Eschliman, Canton, as a member of the Civil Service Commission of that municipality were filed today with the Supreme Court here by Fred Ellsen, Canton attorney and former member of the commission.

WEISER SAYS SCHOOLS ARE GREATLY IMPROVED

City Health Commission Urges Plumbing Repairs in Several Schools

Dr W F Weiser, city health commissioner, states that conditions at some of the Marion school buildings which he reported as unsatisfactory at a recent meeting of the board of health were found to be greatly improved when he made a second inspection tour shortly before the opening of school early this week. That he is not entirely satisfied with the situation however is indicated in his announcement that he will visit several of the buildings again in the near future.

The health commissioner states that the older buildings are the source of the greatest difficulties from the standpoint of sanitation and he believes that plumbing repairs should be made in several cases. In this connection he calls attention in particular to conditions existing at the N State st building.

While admitting that the policy pursued by the school management in the making of repairs and improvements during the summer months has resulted in a saving of funds for the taxpayers Dr Weiser believes that it does not provide sufficient safeguard for the health of the children and teachers. This opinion he expressed in his report at the last monthly meeting of the board of health when he voiced disapproval of the plan of mobilizing all the school janitors in a few of the buildings to do repair work throughout the summer. Because of this system he stated clean-up work in most of the buildings was not started until a short time before the opening of school. He believes that a month or more should be spent by the janitors in cleaning their respective buildings in order to eliminate every semblance of unsanitary conditions.

MERCURY DROPS TO 48 DURING NIGHT

Year Ago Marion Sweltered in 93 Degree Weather, Records Show

That the weatherman intends to give residents of Marion and vicinity their fill of the present premature cold wave is evident from the official report of last night's thermometer readings. The record of Dr F H Haffensperger, government weather observer, shows that the mercury fell to 48 above zero during the night, one degree lower than Thursday night.

This is a marked contrast to conditions a year ago, when Marion people were sweltering in the midst of veritable mid-summer weather. The official thermometer here registered 93 degrees on September 11, 1925.

Improvement in Marion Fire Protection to Follow City Council Action Monday

Larger Hydrants To Be Installed in Up-Town District Under Provisions of New Waterworks Franchise; Authorization of Sewage Plant Improvement Planned

An important step toward improving fire protection service in Marion uptown district is scheduled for Monday night's City Council meeting when a resolution will be introduced directing the Marion Water Co to substitute 18 of the present hydrants with new ones with a larger hose connection opening. The present hydrants have four inch connections and those to take their place will be of the six inch type.

These changes together with the new and larger main pipe line now being installed by the Water Co extending from its plant west of the city will provide greatly increased pressure that is certain to add to the fire protection facilities especially in the business district. The improvement has been regarded as one of the city's serious needs.

Provided in Franchise

This work is to be done under the provisions of the new waterworks franchise agreement, the changes having been made by the water company in the negotiations which were conducted by the city and the waterworks interests prior to the granting of the franchise. The water company's expenditures are expected to total about $175,000.

The hydrant changes to be made are listed as follows: 12 on the east side of Main st, six on the east side of State st, 13 on the north side of Center st and seven on the east side of Prospect st.

Another resolution to go before Council Monday night will authorize the director of public service to advertise for bids on the work of water-proofing and frost proofing the concrete work at the city's sewage treatment plant. This is deemed advisable to prevent the concrete from crumbling and was recommended by G H Gascoigne, Cleveland engineer who supervised the planning of the sewage plant. The treatment is to be the Realo-Crete system. Formal request that the work be done was made recently in a communication from I G Browne, superintendent of the sewage plant. The resolution limits the expenditure to $2,000.

Get Ruling from State

The project was delayed owing to some question regarding the legality of spending any of the sewage plant bond issue funds for this purpose. Doubt on this point was removed when a ruling from the Attorney General of the state

RAINY WEATHER CAUSES SERIOUS STREET DELAYS

Cool Nights Present Obstacle to Service Department, Cathers Says

Rains of the last week have caused serious delay in street improvement work throughout the city, all of which the Department of Public Service expects to have completed before the close of the year.

A large part of the uncompleted schedule consists of concrete work and this is greatly hampered by continued moist weather. Cool nights are also an obstacle to speed in the laying of concrete, city officials say. Despite unfavorable weather conditions contractors on the pending improvements will be urged to use every means to get the streets under construction ready for use before winter weather begins.

One day's rain invariably results in two or three days delay with improvement projects, City Engineer Cathers states.

List of Work

Included in the list of unfinished work are the asphalt pavings to be laid on Oak and Spencer sts and Uhler av. The H P Streicher Co of Toledo which has the contract for surfacing these thoroughfares expects to have its asphalt plant in the city early next week and will begin work at once. The asphalt on all three streets totaling 11,000 yards will be laid within approximately two weeks should favorable weather continue. The concrete base has been laid on these streets and is now ready for the asphalt.

The E Church st paving between Reed av and Kensington pl is only partly completed. Five thousand yards of concrete base remains to be laid, only half of that portion of the improvement being finished. After the base is down, the entire street must be covered with brick.

Comparatively little has been done with the concrete pavings to be put down on Merkle and Oak Grove avs, although service department officials expect to have the improvements in before winter.

On Forest st the concrete base is in but none of the brick surfacing is down.

PREMIER RESTORES PEACE

Declares "Divine Intervention" Saves Him To Carry On for Italy

Rome, Sept 11 — Today's frustrated attempt at assassination of Premier Mussolini was an individual act, according to a statement made to the police tonight by Ermete Giovannini who is held charged with throwing two bombs at the premier.

Giovannini who declares he is 20 and not 19 years old as at first announced was found to be penniless by the police and he declared his attack was an act of an individual anarchist without accomplices.

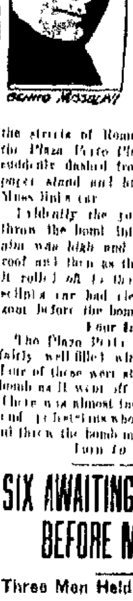
Rome, Sept 11—Premier Mussolini escaped an attempted assassination today.

Ermete Giovannini, an 19 year old Italian youth, hurled a bomb at the premier as he drove in his automobile to his offices on the Chigi Palace at 10 o'clock this morning.



BENITO MUSSOLINI

The bomb struck the top of Mussolini's car and rolled off to the ground and exploded in the street, Mussolini being uninjured, but four passersby suffered severe injuries from the pieces of flying bomb.

Mussolini, who had been spending the night at the villa Torlonia, was driving through the streets of Rome and had reached the Plaza Porta Pia when Giovannini suddenly dashed from behind a newspaper stand and hurled the bomb at Mussolini's car.

Evidently the youth had aimed to throw the bomb into the car but his aim was high and it alighted on the roof and then as the car sped onward it rolled off to the ground and Mussolini's car had cleared the danger zone before the bomb exploded.

Four Injured

The Plaza Porta Pia was as usual fairly well filled with pedestrians and four of those were struck by bits of the bomb as it went off with a terrific din. There was almost instant pandemonium and [illegible] who had seen Giovannini throw the bomb made a rush for him.

Grand Will Show "The Big Parade"

FAIR WEEK ATTRACTIONS; NEWS OF PICTURES

Thoughts on "Variety," Fine Film

A PICTURE that Marion theatergoers have been awaiting for months was announced this week. "The Big Parade" will be shown here three days, commencing Monday night, Sept. 20, at the Grand Theater.

"The Big Parade" is, without doubt, one of the finest motion picture productions ever made.

The company that will play here is one of eight companies touring the United States at the present time and is equipped the same as the companies that played last season in the largest cities. This company carries complete equipment with its own baggage car, a working crew of expert mechanicians, and an orchestra of 20 pieces.

The company coming here will come from Parkersburg, W. Va., and will go to Newark after the local engagement. One performance will be given on Monday night and matinee and night performances Tuesday and Wednesday.

"The Big Parade" is a war picture, a simple but powerful tale with John Gilbert and Renee Adoree giving wonderful performances. Others in the cast include Hobart Bosworth, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien and Claire Adams.

Of "The Big Parade" The New York World said it is "the best film ever made."

Marion theatergoers the last three days of this week have been seeing a notable film, a picture different from the run-of-mine cinema entertainment. It is "Variety," which closes its engagement at the Marion Theater tonight.

"Variety," a German production, brings a cast that, save for Emil Jannings, is new to us. "Variety" is photographically rich and, as said above "different."

It is a character study and a study of passion, passion as it grips man.

"Variety" would be a greater picture if it had not been trimmed to suit censor boards.

The original picture of "Variety" showed a middle-aged acrobat fascinated by a young dancer and trapeze performer. For her he deserted his wife and baby. Not only is the man passion-swept but the girl also means his return to trapeze work and to the applause of the crowds. With her as his partner he achieves success.

The two are brought to a famous performer whose partner has just been injured and is unable to work. The three band together and at the height of their success in the German Wintergarden the acrobat discovers that the more famous and younger and better-looking acrobat has stolen his pretty partner away.

But, when we are introduced to "Variety" the wife and baby have been eliminated, along with the desertion, and we find the acrobat and the dancer enjoying "a happy home life" with the other acrobat intruding upon their wedded bliss.

Hence, we are "protected."

Nevertheless and despite these cuts "Variety" is one of the real pictures of the year. Emil Jannings gives another great portrayal as does a newcomer Lya de Putti.

Fair Week brings popular stars. At the Grand Milton Sills, Doris Kenyon, Mae Allison, Victor McLaglen and Frank Currier are to be found in "Men of Steel," a drama of the steel industry, the first half of the week, and Tom Mix in his latest picture, "No Man's Gold," the last half of the week.

At the Marion "Some Pumpkins," with Charles Ray in one of his characteristic roles, is to be seen the first three days, and Viola Dana in "Bigger Than Barnum," a circus picture, the last three days.

Jack Raymond now has his seven-piece orchestra playing for the Grand pictures, while Manager Foster promises Walberg Brown in violin solos at all performances next week.

The Oakland next week will offer Hope Hampton and Lionel Barrymore in "Fifty-Fifty" Monday and Tuesday; and Rudolph Valentino in "Monsieur Beaucaire" Wednesday and Thursday.

Manager Foster of the Marion is giving cash prizes for the finest pumpkins at the Marion County Fair next week in connection with "Some Pumpkins." These prizes are in addition to the regular prizes of the fair and are given under the sanction of the fair board.

Among some of the new pictures offered in New York during the last week were "The Strong Man," "Fine Manners," "Hold That Lion," "Don Juan's Three Nights," "Honeymoon Express," "Risky Business," "A Woman's Heart" and "Miss Nobody."

"The Strong Man" is Harry Langdon's latest and said to be as funny or funnier than his recent "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp." It is said to have a wealth of slapstick, a rough and tumble finish and some pantomimic comedy.

Doug McLean's "Hold That Lion" is an acceptable comedy that gets many laughs.

Gloria Swanson's "Fine Manners" is said to fit the star like a glove and gives her an opportunity for pathos and comedy that shows her at her best. Eugene O'Brien plays opposite her.

"Don Juan's Three Nights" features Lewis Stone and others but doesn't set the film world upside down. One reviewer said it was all right for the houses that change daily.

"Honeymoon Express" is sweet sentimental stuff with a special interest for women. It deals with the troubles of the American family.

"A Woman's Heart" is said to be worth while and not a whole lot is said for "Risky Business." "Miss Nobody" is called amusing.

Novels, short stories and plays have been ransacked for screen material; the next source of supply will be poetry.

John S. Robertson, now directing Lillian Gish in "Annie Laurie," predicted that his production will start an avalanche of picture plays taken from poems and songs.

"Poetry is practically untouched," Robertson explained, "and nearly every famous poem of any length has an idea that will furnish the groundwork for a real story. Scott's 'Lady of the Lake' would make a beautiful picture, as would Keats' 'Eve of St. Agnes,' Poe's 'Annabelle Lee,' Moore's 'Minstrel Boy,' Whittier's 'Maude Muller,' Scott's 'Young Lochinvar,' Tennyson's 'Idylls of the King,' and many, many others.

"Even the great heroic epic poems of Homer and Virgil would furnish picture material."

Syd Chaplin will soon start on "The Missing Link," his next picture. Chaplin, "Chuck" Reisner, his director, and Darryl Francis Zanuck, scenario writer, spent a month on the Santa Cruz Islands working up comedy situations for the play.

MARION GAS SUPPLY TO BE SHUT OFF TUESDAY

Local Manager of Logan Gas Co. Announces Temporary Suspension

Marion's supply of natural gas will be shut off at 12 o'clock, noon, Tuesday, Sept. 14, to enable workmen to repair the lines, it was announced today by Martin A. Mickley, manager of the local office of the Logan Gas Co.

The gas will be off until 5 o'clock unless workmen finish the repairs before that time.

To avoid accidents consumers have been warned by the gas company to turn off all burners that afternoon.

NO CHANGE REPORTED IN YOUTH'S CONDITION

The condition of John Powell, 21, Sharon, Pa., in City Hospital, wounded with gunshot following his arrest after he had robbed the office safe of the Snyder Lumber Co., Carey, remained "fair" today, according to hospital attaches.

Powell was shot by Ned Twining [illegible], Carey, a member of the posse formed to capture the bandit, when he failed to surrender after he had been surrounded by the posse. The shooting took place in a cornfield on the Frank Orr farm.

Powell was wounded in the chest and legs.

Communists Set Out To Obtain Direction of Trade Union Activities

London Sept 11—The Labor Party having barred the Communists from membership is now up against a new campaign of peaceful penetration on the part of the Left Wingers

Political and industrial organizations of the labor movement have been warned by the Labor Press Service an official publication of the Labor Party of the new tactics and maneuvers of the Communists who have set out to obtain the direction and control of trade union activities

The Communist Party the labor organ declared will stand in the background and the Left Wing Movement is to occupy the stage In addition to the now celebrated Communist 'nuclei' about which much has been heard in recent years there is a new development in the formation of 'fractions' in the ranks of the working class organizations

The Left Wing Movement which the Communist Party is interested in the Labor Press Service stated is to be the Communist Party or a portion of it under a less suspicious title But its aims are clearly the same to exploit if possible internal dissensions It seeks to divide and penetrate the Labor movement in order to capture and control it—not for the purposes set out in the Constitution of the Labor Party but for purposes alien to it

At least a dozen members of the present Labor Party in the House of Commons are officially on record as welcoming the Communists to full membership

The Left Wing program officially adopted by the Communist Party and which it wants the Labor Party to adopt contemplates the abolition of the Monarchy and the House of Lords establishment of a Democratic Republic nationalization of the land mines railways shipping and all manufacturing industries

FLIERS TOLD PLANES SAFER THAN MOTORS

Air Wizard Declares There Is No Danger in Piloting Machines

St Paul Minn Sept 11—William B Stout airplane wizard addressing over [illegible]00 aviators at a dinner here gave his fellow diners a few good laughs and assured them that there was no danger in piloting an airplane

The airplane is like a hobo Mr Stout said because it has no visible means of support

Exploding the myth about the danger of the airplane Mr Stout asked if anybody thought that himself and others would be fools enough to travel by airplane if it meant risking their own necks He voiced the opinion of famous pilots at the dinner who said the danger in an airplane was less than in an automobile The fact was stressed that accidents are mostly due to reckless and inexperienced pilots we are just beginning to get laws requiring proficient drivers while heretofore anybody could run an airplane without a license as there has been no law of the air Mr Stout pronounced the present airplane motor absolutely reliable under all conditions even in the Arctics

"We hear so much about European air service," Mr Stout said "but let me assure you that America has the best motors the best planes and the best pilots in all the world"

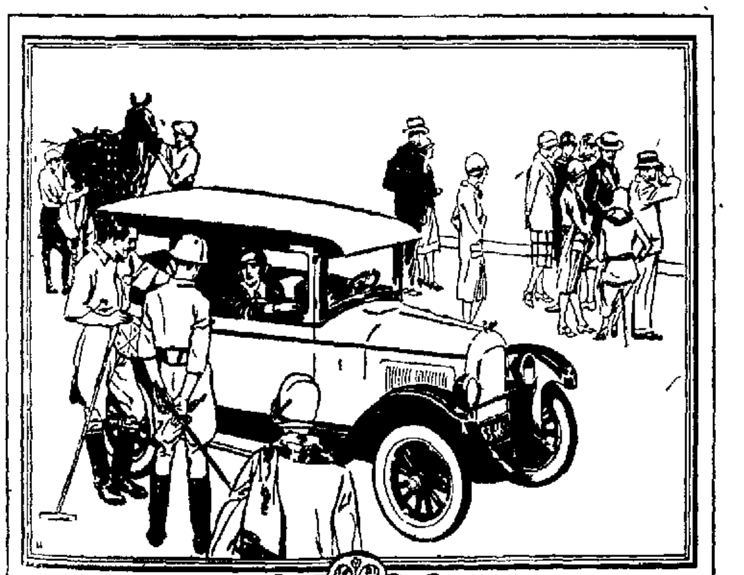
TODAY-
America has its first high-speed European-type Light Car



THE Whippet is the first American light car designed to meet modern traffic conditions

A car engineered specifically for parking at jammed curbs—for lightning get-away at congested traffic crossings—for instant stopping in pedestrian-crowded city streets It will pick up in 13 seconds from 5 to 30 miles an hour It will stop in 51 feet from a speed of 40 miles an hour It will turn in a 34 foot circle—park in a 14-foot curb space

30 miles on a gallon of gasoline...55 miles an hour...5 to 30 miles in 13 seconds 4 wheel brakes stops in 51 feet from 40 miles an hour ...turns in 34-foot circle

More room—greater comfort

This new car has a low, European-type body With height and length in true symmetrical proportion It is 5 feet 8 inches high . . . not as tall as the average man Yet it provides more leg room and comfort than you've ever found in any American-built automobile of this class before.

4 wheel brakes are an integral part of this new car's chassis design . . . a necessity that light car owners have not heretofore enjoyed

In fairness to yourself, come, see this wonderful new type car

Never Before Have We Faced Such Market Conditions!

Deliveries of coats and the better dresses require four to eight weeks and in each instance we are compelled to charge quite an advance over present prices.

We own many hundreds of new cloth coats, travel coats and fur coats, which were bought before the labor troubles were in effect. Bought them at regular figures and have marked them in every instance, low enough to effect immediate sales. The Frank Bros. Co., as usual, adheres to the old adage: "WE SELL AS WE BUY."

For instance, a coat in stock at $65.00, was priced to one of our customers in a nearby city at $79.50. Every one of our better coats and furs will cost 10% to 20% more on reorders. One fur coat retailing at $295.00 has been advanced $65.00 since we bought, making the new price (when the present lot are sold) $370.00.

Unless one is actually in New York, it is difficult to realize conditions prevailing in this market. Apart from labor conditions, manufacturers are forced to raise their prices on account of the shortage of woolens. For example American Venice is $1.00 more a yard than it was three weeks ago. Furs also have advanced from two to five dollars on sets that were formerly $12.00 to $15.00. This together with labor conditions and the anxiety of buyers, is prompting manufacturers to increase prices $3.00, $5.00, and even $10.00 on a coat.

We Are Selling Cloth Coats Now at $15, $19.50, $25, $29.50 and $35
which when we reorder must sell at $19.50 to $39.50.

Cloth Coats at $49.50 up to $99.50
that must sell at $10.00 to $15.00 more on reorders.

Thousands of New Silk and Satin Dresses at $10, $15, $19.50, $25 and $29.50 that are being sold elsewhere at $1.50 to $4.50 more, a fact that comparison will prove.

WARRANT TO DEPORT GEORGE REMUS SERVED

Hearing Not to Be Held Until He Completes Sentence in Troy Jail

Troy, Sept 11—The warrant charging him with being an undesirable alien and subject to deportation has been served on George Remus, "bill bootlegger" in the Miami County jail. His hearing before the immigration authorities probably will not be held until after he completes his present sentence in the local jail, which expires July 1, 1927.

Remus has been in the [illegible] of the law for several years as a result of his bootleg activities. He served a two year sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta and is now serving a year's sentence in the Miami County jail on [illegible] charge.

Shortly after his conviction and incarceration in the Atlanta prison, the federal authorities began an investigation in regard to Remus' citizenship. After several years of investigation the immigration authorities announced that Remus is not a naturalized citizen and is subject to deportation to Germany, his native country.

Remus admits being born in Germany but claims his father was naturalized shortly after the family came to America more than 40 years ago. His daughter, Romona, is at work at present in Chicago, trying to find the records of the naturalization of the father.

NEW USE FOUND FOR GIANT PLANT

Elephant Ear Protects Other Flowers in Marion Flower Garden Against Severity of Weather

A new use for the Caladium more commonly known as the elephant ear has been found at the home of Mrs L I Lindsey 410 N State st.

The plant which grows in the flower garden in front of the house measures [illegible] by 30 inches at the extreme points.

While the chief value of the plant is its beauty the mammoth species in the Lindsey garden serves as a protection to other flowers from the weather elements as well.

The bulb of the mammoth elephant ear was planted by Mrs Lindsey last spring. It was purchased in Marion.

To wash 400 bed sheets at once sounds a big task. Yet some of the new patent washing machines deal easily with 600 pounds of dry weight at one operation which is equivalent to 400 bed sheets.

a newer-smarter Paige

The Most Beautiful Car in America

There is waiting for you at our show room, today a charming new Paige. It is a 4 door Sedan, mounted on the same chassis as the extremely popular Paige Brougham. This beautiful new body, though somewhat smaller than the biggest Paiges, is larger than most sedans. It is also less costly

The costliest custom-built cars seldom present a more enchanting interior than that found in this newest 4-door Paige Sedan. Luxury is everywhere. You sit on finest mohair upholstery over nested springs, instead of cheaper, less attractive, less comfortable corduroy or cotton plush. You look at beautifully clustered instruments in one indirectly lighted panel. You admire the skill that so cleverly placed the arm rests, and inlaid the walnut-finish panels. Silk toggle grips, twin smoking sets, charming corner lights all enchant you.

Come in and see this charming new Paige—soon—we know you'll like it immensely!

Mechanically this newest Paige is even more dependable than the sturdy Paiges of old. It is replete with such advanced features as Improved Paige built Motor none more modern nor better lubricated—Full High Pressure Oil Feed to all Rotating Parts including wrist pins cam shafts, auxiliary shaft and tappets—Counterbalanced Crankshaft—Silent Chain timing, with automatic takeup—Thermostat—Air Cleaner—Metal Oil Lubricated Universals—Springs 54 inches long—115 inch wheelbase—Shock Absorbers—Balloon Tires—Paige Hydraulic 4 Wheel Brakes

Daily Proverb Men hate sometimes those who have oblig[ed] them and cease to hate those who have injured them

English channel records do not appear to possess much more permanency than French cabinets

Ever since Representative Wood declared there is no occasion for an extra session of congress we have been at a stump to decide whether it was a solemn conviction on his part or merely a clever Hoosier political play

That there be no misconception as a result of the statement of the federal treasury actuaries that the United States now has a billionaire we frankly state that we're not guilty

We are beginning to suspect that the weatherman is vindictive How else may we explain his delivery of yesterday save as a taunt by which to remind us of the ideal summer weather of which we have been robbed?

Senator Jim Reed manifests decided shrewdness by disclaiming responsibility for his presidential boom There's never any telling into what it may smash

The arrests in Columbus for the month of August averaged forty one a day forty five per cent of them being for liquor law violations It's simply amazing what a desert this land of ours has become

As a result of the Georgia primary the Hon William D Upshaw will soon be in position to give his individual attention to the accepting of honorariums

Citing the fact that horse-drawn vehicles have been barred from the thoroughfares of the national capital the Louisville Courier Journal remarks that the order does not apply to the water wagon No call for that Manifestly they haven't a vehicle of that description down there

The Cleveland ecclesiastic who recently urged the members of his congregation to live to benefit others may have been a student of the lives of us spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraph

The Boston Globe admitting that New England has had three earthquakes this year and a dozen within the past two years is holding out that they were no great shakes causing neither death nor damage Evidently Boston is troubled She will probably be referring to them soon as flivs

To give an idea of the immensity of Uncle Henry Ford's wealth it may be said that he probably has a dollar for every joke real or alleged gotten off about this flivver

The remarkable vote given Independent Republican Candidate Zimmerman for governor up in that state rather goes to show that Wisconsin is not absolutely unwilling to let La Folletteism become a tradition

By way of comment on the advertisement of an enterprising bakery which asserts that the day of the rolling pin has passed the Canton News suggests that this may explain the scarcity of wife beating charges in police courts Isn't the News in much the same position as the fellow who got the cart before the horse?

Another thing the matter with the country is that too many politicians who are forever spouting about the money they have saved the tax payers do not pay any taxes themselves

Let us be fair The mere fact that a vestryman and another woman choir singer of the late Rev Mr Hall's church in New Brunswick now admit that they were in DeRusse lane at the time the minister and his woman choir singer companion were murdered and that they heard the screams and the shots first doesn't necessarily mean that the entire membership of the church had a penchant for sauntering along that particular lane in the night season

A Last Resting Place for Elks.

We rather like the spirit of Mr William Guthery who recently donated to Marion Lodge No 32 B P O E a large and beautifully located burial tract in Marion cemetery and in the near future will erect thereon a bronze and granite monument emblematic of that order

As the name given the tract —Elks Rest— implies it is intended and is to be used as a last resting place for members of the order for the disposal of whose remains other provision has not been made

Many fraternal organizations look after their members in life going to their aid in time of need but it is the plan of Mr Guthery that there shall be provision for all that is mortal of members of the fraternity after the pulse has ceased to beat and the spirit has fled

As we have said we like the spirit which prompted such forethought and we like the manner in which the forethought has been made tangible

Mr Guthery is to be commended for his worthy undertaking and the order is to be congratulated that it has such a member

Germany in the League.

It is a far more [illegible] [illegible] thing to consider [illegible] [illegible] Aristide Briand French minister of foreign affairs formally welcomed Germany into the League [illegible] [illegible] Friday "For France" he said "the day means we are finished with [illegible] [illegible] the guns have yielded to [illegible] [illegible] have had glory enough on the battlefield" [illegible] [illegible] born of [illegible] almost to himself [illegible] the French minister [illegible] [illegible] delegates arose from their seats [illegible] manifesting marked [illegible] The demonstration of the German delegates was at once taken up by all the others [illegible] with a resultant manifestation of enthusiasm without parallel in the annals of the League

[illegible] which has already been heralded throughout the world as marking the final ending of the great World war

M Briand's speech followed that of Herr Stresemann German foreign minister [illegible] Germany's entrance into the League in which the German minister declared his country's policy to be one of peace and friendship and voiced a plea for general disarmament

It is to be hoped that such is the German attitude such the German heart and thought and purpose A Berlin cable told us that the people of Germany regard her admission into the League of Nations in the light of a vindication of her cause in waging the war and recognition of the important place she holds in world affairs We can not quarrel with Germans over their esteem for their country or the pride they take in her quick recovery from the effects of the war It has been marvelous The close of hostilities is but eight years away and already she is a contender of no mean importance for industrial leadership and a high place as a carrier of passengers and freight upon the seas How greatly she has accomplished toward rebuilding her once famous merchant marine through her energy and effort and unswerving purpose may be measured by what we haven't accomplished in the same direction backed by our almost unlimited resources and wealth

Yes the people of Germany may well be proud of the progress they have made since the war They are justified in taking pride in the recognition of their importance in world affairs manifested by the action of the League But they should forget the war at least try to forget it They should forget if forgetfulness is possible many of the teachings offered them during the years leading up to the war It would be well were they to forget the monarchy and much for which it stood and give their heart and mind and energy to the republic which is theirs which succeeded it It would be far better for them to cooperate with their government in following the policy of peace and friendship enunciated by Herr Stresemann as the German policy, far better for Europe and far better for the entire world

With Germany a member of the League of Nations the policy of Locarno may become the policy of Geneva With Germany outside the League of Nations the Locarno conference might just as well have never been With Germany in the League the Spirit of Locarno may thrive and develop and grow to be the Spirit of Europe possibly the Spirit of the World

Germany's entrance into the League of Nations may accomplish nothing in the way of lasting good but it makes the accomplishment of lasting good a possibility and the more earnestly Germany and the German people strive to forget the differences of the past and look forward to the future in a spirit of peace and amity the greater is the chance that the possibility may become an actuality and lasting good result

If we get the French view these British Argentinian American and German Channel swimmers aren't so much after all

At this distance it looks as though the Moros oppose our withdrawal not so much because they love us more but rather because they love the Filipinos less

Unless exceptions are made of the federal legislators who may wish to go over to study European conditions at first hand it's about a hundred to one proposition that Mr Pat Harrison's plan for withholding visas on passports for Americans wishing to visit France until the French debt has been settled will stand about as much chance of attracting the favor of our law makers as a proposition to cut off their legs

Musicians' Strike Settled

The strike of 3,000 musicians employed in Chicago theaters which threatened to become general as a sympathy demonstration throughout the land has been settled and the musicians are back on their jobs representatives of the union and the theater managers having gotten together at an early hour Friday morning

A general strike of musicians of course would have been directed at the moving picture houses rather than the theaters for the reason that the latter in the main can get along without music while movie patrons insist upon music with their pictures

If the situation was and is as claimed by the motion picture people it might have been well had the strike gone to a finish rather than ended as the result of compromise It is claimed that the musicians sought a provision for yearly employment with discharge barred after two weeks of satisfactory service and sought the use of musicians in houses which [illegible] make enough return to justify more than the employment of an organist If these charges are true or if the musicians are under paid or have been imposed upon by house managers it is hardly more than a postponement of the inevitable

Had the strike become general it would have been the show [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] would have had opportunity to learn the [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] the public would [illegible] [illegible] given an opportunity to register its feelings through a general sympathy strike and whatever the [illegible] [illegible] would have been practically [illegible] [illegible] when all is said [illegible] public [illegible] which decides strikes in the main and [illegible] those arrayed against each other

Middle Ear Injured by Infections

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health New York City

Recently I have had a half dozen letters asking for an article on nasal catarrh and ear trouble What we call catarrhal deafness is so very prevalent in North America that hardly a household escapes an affliction of this type

It is a fact that more attention is not given to the prevention and cure of the common cold A good deal is being said these days about a concerted movement on the part of the doctors chemists bacteriologists and other scientists to find a means of guarding the human family against colds It is to be hoped that success will crown their efforts

As I see it there should be education of the public as to the seriousness of colds The fact that you take cold is an evidence of lowered vitality The immediate effect of the cold is to lower the resistance in the tissues involved in the inflammation This weakness permits more serious germs than the cold germ to enter the system Thus germs the germs of influenza and the germs of pneumonia may gain entry into the blood stream through the tissues weakened by an attack of the common cold

The nasal passages open directly into the nasal sinuses and through a tube they open into the middle ear The throat nose sinuses the tube to the ear and the middle ear itself are all lined with a mucous membrane There is no borderline or boundary of any sort between these various parts of the anatomy If a cold attacks the nose it is not long before the other parts are reached by the disease process

We will assume that the cold begins in the nose It extends up the Eustachian tube to the middle ear The order of recovery is the same The nasal tissues may perhaps resume a fairly normal state It may be a long time however before the inflammation in the Eustachian tube and middle ear subsides In the meantime there is more or less thickening of the membranes This thickening narrows the passageway interfering with the drainage and ventilation of the middle ear The inner covering of the ear drum is the mucous membrane which lines the inner ear This may become thickened too

Connecting the ear drum and the inner ear is a chain of tiny bones suspended across the inner ear cavity The little bones and their joints are covered with mucous membrane Where the foot plate of the stirrup bone fits into the opening of the skull where the inner ear is the same delicate membrane is found

You can see that the keeping of the membrane lining the ear drum and covering the little bones and ultimately associated with the foot plate of the stirrup bone will cause trouble The free movement of drum and little bones is interfered with and the hearing is lessened in consequence

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

One of the sure ways of wasting your own time and the time of your employer is to be always trying to put yourself over instead of trying to put your job over The man who is always planning ways and means of putting himself over will get caught at it soon or late The boss will discover that the young man is not so interested in good work as he is in making a good impression

If you do good work you don't need to bring things to the boss to show him about it It is much better to have others discover your good work than for you to have to attract attention to it And if no one discovers it then it is not sufficiently out standing to be worth of mention

Don't try to tell the other fellow what to do—about his business family or personal affairs You do this with the best of intention but you are probably not in possession of the facts When a man makes what seems to you a queer move or has unwise and illogical ideas on your mind thought about him is that he is misled ignorant or crazy You are judging him from your own and your distant point of view You do not stand where he stands You can not see what he sees Unless he has a looser tongue than any man should have you do not know what he knows Let him make his own decisions Probably he has a reason

Don't worry because injustice arouses within you the sensation of anger If it did not you would hardly be normal or dependable But letting anger translate itself into violent and uncontrolled action is another thing That is all wrong Perhaps Henry Ward Beecher once expressed this idea as well as it could be expressed He said

If a man meets with injustice it is not required that he shall not be roused to meet it but if he is angry after he has had time to think about it that is sinful The flame is not wrong but the coals are

And while we are on the topic of anger add to our thinking for today this from a very well known book

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty and he that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city

The great Carlyle making a long lecture to students summed it all up when he said On the whole I would bid you stand up to your work whatever it may be and not be afraid of it—not in sorrows or contradiction to yield but pushing on toward the goal

We are urged to stand up to things because that is a brave thing to do But the fact is when we stand up to things they lose their terrors and we find them much easier than we had expected

Who's Who and Why

GENERAL LUDENDORFF

The recent announcement by General Erich Ludendorff former quartermaster general of the German Imperial army that he was about to take a second wife recalls to public notice a figure who played a prominent role during the World war

Ludendorff and von Hindenburg were the great German names from August 1914 until November 1918 Von Hindenburg who is now president was then field marshal of the German army and during the final stages of the war Ludendorff was his chief of staff

Since Germany became a republic both have played a prominent part in the nation's politics, but unlike Hindenburg Ludendorff has steadily lost in influence with the public

General Ludendorff became the candidate of the Right extremists for the presidency in March 1925 but he was low man among the seven candidates in the preliminary election getting only 284,000 out of a total of 26,780,000 votes cast

In the run off in April General von Hindenburg was elected supported by all the Right or Nationalist groups At first Ludendorff opposed his candidacy but later campaigned in von Hindenburg's interest

In July 1925 the reichstag committee for fixing responsibility for the Empire's military collapse in 1918 absolved all the war leaders naming Ludendorff and Hindenburg specially as absolved of all blame

Another signal reverse suffered by Ludendorff was the failure of the Bavarian beer hall putsch of 1923 in which he and Hitler were leaders They proclaimed a new national government for Germany but the revolt soon was put down

Poems That Live.

LOST LOVE

Who wins his love shall lose her
Who loses her shall gain
For still the spirit woos her
A soul without a stain
And memory still pursues her
With longings not in vain

He loses her who gains her
Who watches day by day
The dust of time that stains her
The griefs that leave her gray
The flesh that yet enchains her
Whose grace hath passed away

Oh happier he who gains not
The love some seem to gain
The joy that custom stains not
Shall still with him remain
The loveliness that wanes not
The love that ne'er can wane

In dreams she grows not older
The Land of Dreams among
Though all the world wax colder
Though all the songs be sung
In dreams doth he behold her
Still fair and kind and young

—Andrew Lang

Three Successive Campaigns Required for Endorsement of Caledonia Public Square Paving Project Over Decade Ago

Village of Less Than 600 Inhabitants Has Beautiful $100,000 Church

By Gilmore Hirtl

A trifle more than a decade ago the citizens of Caledonia was evenly divided pro and con on a civic issue.

Overshadowing all other current events with its importance was the question: Shall Caledonia have a paved public square or shall it continue to have a large space in the center of its business section that is unsightly, unsanitary in certain seasons and constantly creating an atmosphere of unprogressiveness.

It required the third successive campaign and election for the progressive element of the village to win in their crusade and secure endorsement of a majority for the improvement bond issue.

The square was paved and the bonds sold in October 1915. The last being paid off in September 1925.

After ten years usage improved streets are likely to become a part of the ordinary citizen's life. He will not give much time to recalling the struggle that preceded endorsement. Not so with Caledonians. They point with pride to the square to this day and recall the time when there was no pavement and the square's corners were deep mires of mud each spring.

Town Hall

The above photograph is a view of the square looking north. The building on the right is the town hall. It houses the postoffice, the council chamber, mayor's office, jail and fire engine house.

The fire fighting equipment consists of a hand pump wagon and chemicals.

In the history of this little village of 500 inhabitants whose residents claim it to be older than Marion, there has been two disastrous fires, both of which threatened to destroy the greater part of the business section.

In the middle of night 1885 the Union building caught fire and was completely destroyed. Aid was summoned from Galion to prevent the wiping out of an entire block of business rooms. Those that recall the disaster say the heat from the blaze was so intense that it was necessary to shield plate glass windows a hundred yards distant with blankets to keep them from breaking.

The second and greatest fire disaster occurred in the early morning of January 29 1890 when the Masonic building, a frame structure was burned. Marion departments this time answered the call for assistance and with difficulty prevented further destruction.

Old Home of Hardings

Warren G Harding was the most distinguished of Caledonia citizens. The smallest lad in the centralized school will give a ready response to query regarding that. Caledonians point with pride and respect to the location of the Harding residence in the village and recall friendships with the young Harding boy who worked in the village printshop and in later years was destined to become president of the United States. Leaving Caledonia the Harding family moved to a farm east of the village and then later to Marion.

Beautiful Edifice

The First Methodist church ... a ... edifice ... twenty times the size of the village. It is a large stone structure erected at a cost of $100,000 by Mrs Stephen V Harkness New York City in memory of her mother Mrs A Maria Enterew of ... resident of Caledonia ... church was finished in the spring of 1909. Dedication ceremonies were held in October 1909 at the cornerstone laying, the Rev S ... Dilleman ... delivering the principal address. In addition to the church gift Mrs Harkness gave $1,000 toward the ... of the church parsonage. She made another bequest to the village in her will.

Rev Enos Grey was pastor at the time of the building of the new church and following its completion the congregation voted him $200 and three months leave of absence in order that he might return to England to visit his mother. The visit marked the first trip home since leaving at the age of 17. While in England he traveled on foot and returned to Caledonia late in the summer with $75 of the congregation's gift still in his pocket.

There are three denominations in the village other than the Methodist Episcopal namely Christian, Universalist and Catholic.

Modern School

Youngsters of the community are given the advantages of a modern public school system. The centralized school which is situated in the northern part of the village was originally built in 1910 ... Three Elevators

Outstanding in the business organizations of the village are three elevators, a grist mill, a lumber yard and a score or more ... establishments. The three largest fraternal organizations or chapters ... the Masonic Lodge, Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows, each of which maintain lodge and rest ... quarters.

The Town's Name

In checking the ... of the word Caledonia it is found that it is a Greek word. Its first common usage recorded in history was in the year of 80 A D ... the term applied to northern Scotland by writers during the Roman invasion under the leadership of Agricola 40 years after Caesar had conquered Lower Britain. The term Caledonia is still applied to certain sections of Scotland. It is very probable that the Marion county village was given its name by early Scottish settlers.

CALEDONIA PUBLIC SQUARE

Richwood Masonic Temple Made Possible by Gifts from Late J. W. Hill and Wife

Richwood Sept 11—The Masonic Temple which will be dedicated here Sunday Sept 12 by the Grand Lodge of Ohio is known as Hill memorial owing to the fact that the building fund was started by a donation of $7,000 by the late J W Hill in year 1912 and later at the death of his wife Mary J Hill a sum of $13,000 was willed to the local Masonic organization by her.

Mt Carmel Lodge F and A M was organized in 1868 with ten charter members. Its membership is now nearing the two hundred mark. The first meetings were held in the second story of a log dwelling house known as the Joe Ross home now occupied by W L Woolard and family. CITIZENS WILL VOTE ON ISSUE AT ELECTION

Schools and Village Will Face Embarrassment During Year Unless Levy Is Granted

Kenton Sept 11 Facing the possibility of a shortage in funds for operating expenses, Ada's council will go before the voters at the November election seeking an increase of three mills in the Ada tax levy.

If the proposal is approved by the voters the additional levy would provide an additional sum of $9,075 annually for a period of three years to meet the current expenses of the town.

Unless the increased levy carries, both the council and the school board will be financially embarrassed during the coming year it was pointed out and the only alternative will be to turn off street lights, diminish fire protection and shorten the school term by at least two weeks, members of the council state.

During the year 1926 current expenses of the college town will be approximately $10,500 according to the town clerk. Although council asked for this amount the budget commission sitting in Kenton allowed but $7,000. The deficiency however will be taken care of with a reserve left over from previous years.

The budget for 1927 calls for $12,170 an increased amount to care for increased cost of street lighting and to purchase needed fire equipment, it is said. With the reserve depleted this year and in event the additional mill levy is defeated the town will be faced with a deficit of several thousand dollars.

WOMAN CON-QUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St Paul, Minn — Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers, Mrs Jack Lorberter of 704 Dellwood Place wrote to the Lydia E Pinkham Medicine Company. If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results. In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight. I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. "I bought the Vegetable Compound," Mrs Lorberter continued "and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask 'How is housekeeping?' and he says 'It is just like being in Heaven'"

Your Astragal
Or Ballista
Inventions

BY EDNA DUTTON

JUST how badly do [illegible] is your astragal or [illegible] your [illegible] [illegible] buzzing a jig [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] sight of the merry go round [illegible] Or [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] at the [illegible] If you have [illegible] these symptoms [illegible] your ballista is running on high.

All this may be credited to the lower scientific [illegible] who says that the [illegible] which registers and transmits the [illegible] to [illegible] pleasure [illegible] [illegible] is situated in the feet [illegible] under the [illegible] of the metatarsus, the five bones between the ankle and the [illegible] of the toe. The nerve spot which reacts to musical rhythm [illegible] is situated [illegible] the [illegible] the first phalanx of big toe. The scientist did not [illegible] just how he made the discovery but it would seem he ought to know as he is accredited with being an accomplished musician.

AMONG new inventions [illegible] is [illegible] right now in telephones you can see through. If this [illegible] really registers [illegible] will mean [illegible] [illegible] Imagine yourself [illegible] the [illegible] is off and some fair is [illegible] to say they are [illegible] and [illegible] try to sell [illegible]. I am just ready to [illegible] stuff. Or try to pretend you are just as comfy as can be when you have just hopped out of the bath tub and grab bed a towel to do a marathon to answer the telephone.

Of course it would have its advantages. Fancy calling up the grocer. You could note for yourself just how [illegible] would do for the guest when the vegetables were fresh or the fruit ripe enough. Meantime would develop a sort of a periscope affair which would permit glancing over the shelves for suggestions or something you may have forgotten.

I daresay the invention that would please dad the most is one I heard discussed a few days ago. It may be only a myth and I dare say it is but here's the dope. It seems this device first crushes the coal, feeds it in the furnace, takes out the ashes and shoots them in the ashbarrel ready for the ash man. What a boon to every one in the family, big and little.

Should I chance on any enlightening information in regard to this little trick I promise faithfully to broadcast the glad tidings without even asking for the customary stamped envelope.

What I am particularly interested in right now is an invention that will make vacations not seem so long in coming or so speedy in going.

a Great President Isn't on of Knowledge; Its Weather Question

I know is just what I [illegible] papers and it's so long [illegible] a paper over here about [illegible] everything is buried be[illegible] anything about it. I [illegible] get a line on some [illegible] for by the time the pa[illegible] [illegible] candidate has been [illegible] a Primary and is holler[illegible] recount before I even know [illegible]

[illegible] things breaking over [illegible] the papers we get [illegible] Cal is sorter skidding [illegible] and they look for him to [illegible] the home stretch. Odd[illegible] [illegible] opposite form of public [illegible] that it is just a little [illegible] setting in that a [illegible] high every minute [illegible] show up and look [illegible] once in a while to see if [illegible] to him. Course [illegible] a lot of races lost by [illegible] the wrong time.

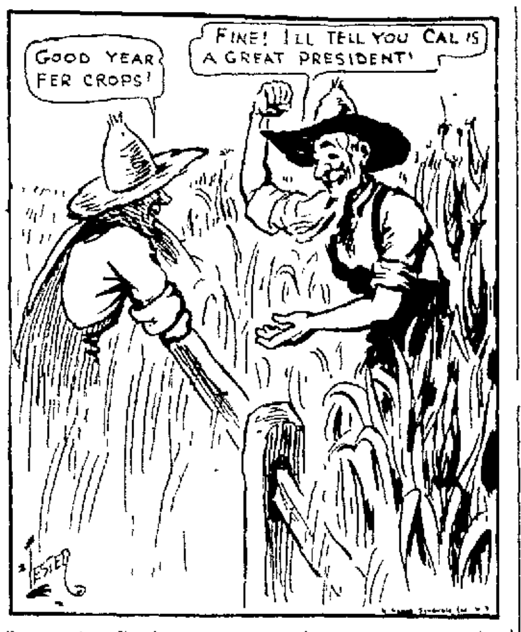
Cal Knows Farmers

[illegible] that the farmers are [illegible] confidence in him helping. Well Cal is pretty wise [illegible] many Farmers [illegible] lot of people farm [illegible] only the FARMERS [illegible] him, why he hasn't [illegible] strength. You got to do [illegible] live in the country to [illegible]

[illegible] you got to figure that it's [illegible] the fall of '28. A con[illegible] crops and any fair luck [illegible] the line of supply and [illegible] and he may capture the Farm [illegible] You know him in [illegible] Appendicitis [illegible] the Bollweevil or fallen arches [illegible] bugs all play just as big [illegible] the national career of a man [illegible] ability does.

[illegible] me a few showers just when I [illegible] most and let me have the [illegible] awarding them around the doubtful states as I see best [illegible] demand for Steel crop [illegible] didn't even know it was go[illegible] let the Argentine and Rus[illegible] wheat failure, let the foot [illegible] disease hit every country but [illegible] the Mississippi, let as I say [illegible] things happen over which I [illegible] direct control but let them [illegible] anyway and have even me in [illegible] President and I will be Re[illegible] by such a large majority that I [illegible] even take the pains to talk to [illegible] the Radio.

[illegible] give me all these things for 10 years [illegible] with me as President and [illegible] Lincoln a run for his laurels. If I can't spell cal[illegible] eat with my [illegible] don't know a tariff bill from [illegible] Bone Steak.



GOOD YEAR FER CROPS!
FINE! I'LL TELL YOU CAL IS A GREAT PRESIDENT!
LESTER

Being great as President is not a matter of knowledge or farsightedness, it's just a question of the weather, not only in your own Country but in a dozen others. It's the elements that make you great or that break you. If the Lord wants to curse about a dozen other Nations that produce the same things we do why then you are in for a renomination. If we are picked out as the goat that year and are reprimanded why you might be Solomon himself occupying the White House and on March the fourth you would be asked to call in a public conveyance and remove any personal belongings that you may have accumulated. So it's sorter like a World's Series—you got to have the breaks.

Everybody figures Politics according to what they have accumulated during the last couple of years. Maybe you haven't earned as much as you did a few years ago because you haven't worked near as hard but all you look at is the old balance sheet and if it's in the RED why his Honor the President is in the alley as far as you are concerned. It takes about 20 or 30 years to really tell whether any President really had anything with him beside Sunshine and Showers. We have to look over your achievements in view of what they have to do with the future. Course bad advice will ruin you just about as a total Earthquake all over the land would do. If you are trying to be elected and then listen to a typical Politician or a bunch of them for there is nothing as short sighted as a Politician unless it is a delegation of them, why that's more unlucky than an earthquake.

Hands Off Politicians

Well if you are going to pay any attention to politicians during your administration you can just right away imagine yourself being referred to as Ex-President Jasbo. They I really think can ruin you quicker than unseasonable weather.

Now your personal habits, your looks, your dress, whether you are a good fellow or not with the boys, the old assumed Rotary or Kiwanians Spirit, why that don't mean a thing. You can shut up and never say a word for the entire four years, you can go out and tell everybody deaf dumb and blind so it's only when you are asleep that you are quiet, you can be a teetotaller or you can have a drink whenever you like—in all these things and a million others you can be either on one side or the other and it won't make the least bit of difference in the world, that is it won't if the Country has enjoyed prosperity, over ninety percent of which you had no personal control.

Every Guy just looks in his pockets and then votes. And the funny part of it is it's the last year that is the one that counts. You can have three bad ones and then wind up with everybody having money, and you will win so far you wouldn't even stay up to hear the returns. You can go to bed at 10.30. On the other hand you can get a great break and give them a great first three years of your incumbency and then the last or election year flop on account of a drouth and you will be beat so far they will think you was running as a Populist.

So that's how much all these write-ups and Editorials amount to. They haven't got any more to do with conditions on November 28 than Utah has advising Borah.

Luck That Counts

In politics as well as in anything else and even more so, you have to sorter bet or play on a man's luck. Take Golf for instance. Hagen they will tell you can't play as good game as Bobby. But you let there be a few hundred beans in a bag that has been wagered on the outcome and Hagen will make the last 10 holes in ONE each. Now you may think you can outgeneral Cal but you look up his record and you are going to have a tough time out lucking him.

That guy Smith is another guy that carries Horseshoes where poor Bryan never had anything on his person but Peacock feathers.

Now mind you I am granting all of them the same ability, but it's the four leaf clover that brings home the bacon. So don't pay any too much attention to anything till I get there, and consult with you personally.

Who will be President Nov. 5th 1928 hasn't got a thing to do with any Candidates or what they do from now to then. Each one of their cards is in the pack and conditions will be the one to draw out the winner. They say you must have the tide with you to swim the English Channel. WELL YOU CERTAINLY HAVE TO HAVE THE WEATHER WITH YOU FOR FOUR YEARS TO KEEP ON BEING PRESIDENT.

"GLITTER"

A STORY OF YOUTH AND LOVE

BY KATHARINE BRUSH

CHAPTER IX

Terrace Tavern is built a cautious little off the beaten track. But travelers of the beaten track, though they do not actually pass its door, are assured that it lies somewhere in the vicinity by a series of signboards pricked out with red electric bulbs. These read variously, becoming more garrulous as the distance becomes less. "Five Miles to Terrace Tavern." "Four Miles to Terrace Tavern — August Schultz, Prop." "Only Two Miles to Terrace Tavern—Chicken, Steak and Lobster Dinners." "One Mile More to Terrace Tavern—Dancing Every Evening Six to Two—Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven." A speedometer mile and three quarters beyond this last three is a giant crimson arrow pointing into a thicket and the terse injunction "TURN HERE FOR TERRACE TAVERN" in letters a foot high.

At night the injunction is continually obeyed. Car after car leaves the highway and twists along a serpentine side road until its headlights are one with the light that blazes like neon in the clearing at the end. August Schultz has ever been a firm believer in electricity for outdoor use. It allures, it looks hospitable and happy, and as an aid to motorists somewhat inebriated it is invaluable. For indoor use, of course, he doesn't think so much of it.

Terrace Tavern is long and low and sprawling, made of stucco. It has a red tile roof, innumerable windows, hooded with red and white striped awnings, and below the window boxes in which things assorted grow. A liveried negro with a flashing white grin holds the door wide for you to enter, then lets it whisk to behind you so abruptly that you feel as though you had been swept in by a broom. On the wings of this head start, you hasten down a long tunnel of buff paved with red carpet and bring up against a triple barrier of tall painted screen, velvet rope and dinner-coated functionary who eyes you phlegmatically. From behind the screen sounds issue — the wham-wham of jazz or the combined roar of speech and laughter and forks on china — orchestra and guests in alternate hub-bub. The dinner-coated functionary has to incline his ear to your lips to hear you say, "A table near the floor if you have it," and you have to incline yours to his to hear him reply that he hasn't it but that he'll give you something in a corner.

The room beyond the screen is enormously large and looks even larger because its walls are dusky black and seem to mingle with the night in an infinitude of darkness. A ruby necklace of lights encircles these walls—ornamentally, not usefully. There is a great horseshoe packed tight with black lacquered tables bordered in red, and little black and red chairs, and people — and at the open end of the horseshoe Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven preside, in an elevated alcove draped in scarlet satin like the boudoir of a courtesan. The dance floor is oval, painted black and red, and above it searchlights from opposite corners meet to play with a globe of tiny mirrors hung high in the center and to win therefrom a thousand iridescences. Wisps of light spray down from this globe upon the dancers and blobs of it drift over their faces like huge intangible snowflakes, making them look pretty—much prettier than they are.

Of course there are crowds and crowds. There are ballroom crowds that smack of valets and French maids and show windows on Fifth Avenue. There are amusement park crowds with sleazy dresses and gents' ready-to-wear suits and run-down heels and jaws in perpetual motion. There are baseball crowds, straw-hatted, shirt-sleeved, perspiring. There are football crowds, vast gay menageries of fur. There are movie crowds, sticky with candy, pale with bad air, and hotel crowds, dark clad and middle aged and smug. But the roadhouse crowd is like no other in the world.

To begin with it is bored. With itself, with its neighbor, with all things. It has lived hard and swiftly, the roadhouse crowd, and how it is burned out and bored, and so it cries for White Rock and cracked ice and mixes itself pleasures to drink and it wins them and [illegible] and downs them [illegible] that it may forget how bored it is, that it may become merry and full and hysterical — and a little disgusting.

Then it pounds the table and calls for music. And it dances after its curious wobbly fashion and pats its fat palms at the musicians. And after that it returns to its table and perhaps kisses its partner for the edification of the next table and orders a club sandwich that it doesn't want and fishes under the chair for its bottle — and repeats itself and repeats itself until at last the check girl helps it into the wrong coat and the guardian of the parking space tells it to "watch out for the turn, sir," remember, and it goes wavering off to its home, wherever that is.

And if you take the roadhouse crowd apart to see what makes it tick you come upon such curious cogs as these:

Lewd women dressed in white like brides. Pudgy-baked women in the most abbreviated skirts of all. Girls with fresh young faces and eyes a mil[illegible] [illegible] It seems [illegible] been there. Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Spends Day

PHILIP VERITZEN'S dark eyes — which some irreverent wag has dubbed the brightest pair of lamps on the Great White Way — glinted with merriment at my demure reply to his comment that I was a wonderful person to work with."

"So you are glad that you please me," he repeated slowly. "Dear child, I fear that you please me altogether too well."

I looked up startled, although I had been parrying similar little speeches with a frequency steadily increasing during the weeks of our work together. But now, as always, there was the mischievous gleam in his eyes which robbed the words of all seriousness, and made it well nigh impossible for me to resent them without making myself ridiculous and attaching a significance to them which I had no reason to think was warranted.

But I was troubled vaguely, nevertheless. I knew that, disguise it as I might, my old rigid standards of the conduct befitting a married woman were being made to appear antiquated to me when compared with those of the men and women in my new associations. This in spite of the undeniable fact that through the great producer's whole organization there was permitted no vulgar or common note. The idea appeared to be that all of the workers in it had the attitude toward each other of members of a big intimate family.

"Get rid of your Inhibitions"

"They park their family ties outside the door," Lillian had commented with a grin when early in my work there I had spoken to her of incidents trifling or significant which I had noticed. "When they are once inside they hob-nob and scrap, borrow money of each other and take each other to meals with no slightest indication that there are any such odd fish as husbands and wives at home. But there isn't an ounce of harm in the whole outfit—well, perhaps that's pretty sweeping, but they're a good bunch of scouts, so you'd better get rid of a few of your inhibitions and take things as they are."

It was wise counsel, I realized that, and it enabled me to meet with equanimity the pretty speeches and the delicate attentions which Philip Veritzen so frequently gave me. If I could have banished the absurd yet persistent little impression that beneath my employer's apparent nonchalance there lurked something intangible, perhaps as puzzling to himself as to me, I should have been perfectly at ease in my new work.

But the impression could not be banished and it tinged the reply I made to him with a pertness I never should have used otherwise. But instinctively I felt that a mocking lightness similar to his own was the only possible way to meet speeches such as this. So with an apparently careless little laugh I said:

Veritzen Takes Madge's Cue

"That's fortunate for me then, for I'm afraid this report isn't going to please you too well, and I need something to balance it. I think I've struck a snag. Will you look at this please?"

I added a technical question as I spread out the notes which because of his instructions to me concerning Mary I had not yet given him. He took my cue instantly and dropping his mischievous look began to discuss the question I had raised. He knew as well as I that I had found no difficulty worth mentioning but he looked as serious and concerned as if it were a real problem, and from that went on to the intensive discussion and planning which marked our interviews. When at last he had finished I felt as if I had done a whole day's work and remembered Lillian's warning that keeping up with Phil Veritzen was a full grown job." I knew that was coming next when he looked at his watch with a speculative little air only too familiar to me.

"We've run over the luncheon hour," he said. "I am so sorry. You must be famished. Let us hurry out and repair the damages."

HOUSATONIC RIVER WILL HAVE SIXTH BIG DAM

New Milford, Conn., Sept. 11.—The much-dammed Housatonic river is to have still another barrier checking the flow of its water from the Berkshires to Long Island Sound. New England's second river already has five hydro-electric developments, all within the state of Connecticut and all but one owned by the Connecticut Light & Power Co.

That company is about to start a dam here where Rocky river enters the Housatonic and erect a power house to furnish a capacity of 30,000 KW.

The dam is to have a storage capacity of nearly eight billion cubic feet and an area of ten square miles and is to be done in the summer of 1928. The power is to be distributed through central Connecticut.

SCIOTO POWER PLANT AMONG OHIO LEADERS

Local Station Forms Important Link in Super-Power Chain in State

The Scioto Power Station of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., located [illegible] miles south of the city on the Marysville-Marion road, is an important link in a great super-power chain in operation in Ohio, a survey discloses.

Except for one gap, a small gap, which probably will be filled next year, [illegible] will permit a complete system of high power transmission lines from the Canadian border [illegible] to Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin, [illegible] Indiana, West Virginia, North [and] South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana to New Orleans.

Few Years Ago

While a few years ago transmission lines of even 25 miles in length [illegible] and the voltage of those old lines was no greater than from 6600 to 11000 volts, today there are hundreds of transmission lines 200 miles in length carrying voltage of from 33000 to 132000. Ohio [illegible] the backbone of [illegible] large lines [illegible] with two [illegible] systems.

The Scioto Power Station is one of the largest generating plants [in] Central Ohio and forms an important link in the great electric power chain of the state.

Today in Ohio alone there is a network of more than 5000 miles of high tension transmission lines carrying 33000 volts or more, extending from Toledo to the Ohio River and connecting Ohio's systems with those of surrounding states. There are several thousands miles of lines carrying less than 11000.

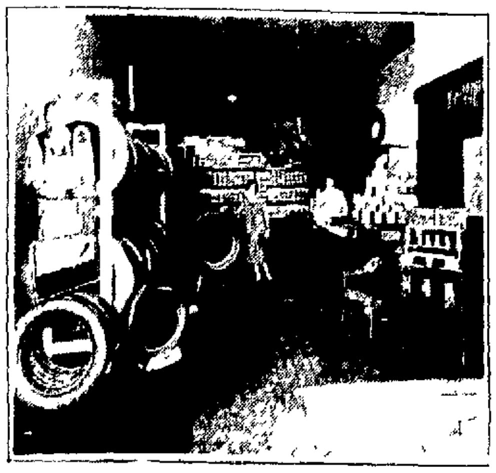
INTERIOR HOWLEY TIRE STORE



This establishment, one of the recent additions to Marion's commercial field, deals exclusively in Miller tires.

Howley Tire Service, One of City's Newest Rubber Stores, Doing Big Business

Station on N. Main-St Deals Exclusively in Miller Products; J. L. and Mrs. R. R. Howley Opened Store June 18, 1926

One of the newer tire stores which is making a name for itself in Marion is the Howley Tire Service, 219 N. Main st. It was opened June 18, 1926 by J. L. Howley and Mrs. R. R. Howley. The store is an exclusive Miller distribution center. Its service includes all forms of tire repairing and the stock of tires and tubes includes every Miller size from 30 by 3½ to the large 40 by 8 for trucks. Old tires may be traded in as part payment on all sizes.

"People are getting the habit of telephoning 2002 when they are in need of tire service," says Mr. Howley. "We have the complete line of Miller tires for them and if they want cheaper tires we carry Rellim tires in all the wanted sizes."

Miller tires are standard equipment on Auburn, Diana, Ford, Hewitt, Lincoln, Moon, Paige, Pierce Arrow, Stearns Knight, Studebaker, Velie. Miller creative genius has developed a new bus and truck tire built on the Uniflex principle of construction and shaped to give ideal road contact. Big corporations and operators of national fleets have selected this heavy duty tire because it cuts mileage costs and reduces operating expense. It is a worthy big brother to the famous geared-to-the-road balloon.

Miller experience reflects the growth of the rubber industry over a span of 31 years. Leaderships in the exacting field of rubber sundries prepared the ground for Miller's present position in the manufacture of fine tires.

HOBOS ORGANIZE CLUBS TO MEET THEIR FRIENDS

"Weary-Willies" May Now Procure Better Things of Life

Philadelphia, Sept. 11—The hobo has class now and those so-called class conscious "Weary Willies" have clubs of their own where they can procure the better things in life—food, shelter and companionship.

These hobos of the upper stratum of their society refuses to associate with the tramps and insists on being a civilized unit of the cosmic universe.

This became known here when James Eads How, the millionaire hobo, asserted one of these clubs is being formed here.

Open forum discussions among the hobos will be no novelty this winter at the new club, it was said.

Victor C. Anderson, district organizer, is here with two local hobos working daily to put their club in order so that it will be completed ready for occupancy by October 1, Anderson said.

"It's something for what you receive" is the slogan of these men, Anderson told his inquirers. "They are using the slogan to build up character of the hobo so that he does not get the habit of wanting something for nothing.

"The reason he sleeps in a scratch house is because our better hotels will not take him in," declared Anderson. "He may have plenty of money in his jeans but he appears at a hotel desk clad in dirty overalls and a tattered shirt. He is not even let in flop in the poorer hotels.

"That's why we are starting this club so that the hobo can get a decent night's lodging at a price reasonable and agreeable to him."

The youth was seized upon and there was an instant cry that he be lynched. The police who arrived when the crowd was scuffling with the would-be assassin had the greatest difficulty in rescuing him from the hands of the mob who were demanding his death.

The premier took charge of matters and gave orders at once that there be no reprisals and that those who had been injured be given the best of care.

To his friends and colleagues in Chigi Palace the premier again expressed the opinion that [illegible] had been aimed [illegible] carry on his work for Italy.

Blame Anti Fascists

When Giovannini was finally rescued from the mobs and taken to police headquarters it was learned that he had recently arrived in Italy from France. Giovannini admitted to the police that he had crossed into Italy from France surreptitiously and had not had a passport or the necessary credentials.

While no official statement was made angry Romans immediately declared that the plot to assassinate the premier had been fostered by anti-fascists who have made their headquarters in France and it was charged that Giovannini was the tool of older and wiser heads.

There were immediate rumors put into effect that Italy would make demands upon France for the curbing of the anti-fascist activities in Nice and other points along the border as well as in Paris.

While angry mobs surged through the streets Mussolini unperturbed was at his desk in the foreign office in Chigi Palace. He went about his work as usual.

Crowds gathered in the Piazza Colonna before Chigi Palace and cheered Mussolini while others knelt in nearby churches and shrines and offered up prayers of thanks for the deliverance of the premier.

The premier continued at his desk and word came forth from his offices that he felt that the citizens should go about their work as usual and the word was quickly passed that there should be no demonstrations or reprisals.

While no official statement has been made as to Giovannini's affiliations it is reported that he has been identified as a member of the Italian communist party.

The police state that only four pedestrians were injured by the exploding bomb but it is reported that as many as eight persons suffered injuries of varying degree.

Within a short time after the attempt upon Mussolini the headquarters of the fascist party issued a general order to all fascists throughout Italy demanding that there be no reprisals against political opponents and expressing gratification that Il Duce had been spared to carry on his work.

Mussolini would appear to have a charmed life.

Attempts to assassinate him have always failed. The nearest that the premier has ever come to serious injury was during the attack made upon him last spring by the Hon. Violet Gibson, an English woman who fired a revolver point blank in the face of the premier. Mussolini suffered a wound in the nose and Miss Gibson was adjudged mentally incompetent.

Zaniboni, a former political colleague of Mussolini, has been held for nearly a year now awaiting trial on a charge of attempting to assassinate Mussolini. Zaniboni was arrested in a hotel room opposite the Chigi Palace where Mussolini was to speak from the balcony. In Zaniboni's possession there was found a high powered rifle and it was alleged that he had planned to shoot the premier from his hotel window.

Each attempt on Mussolini's life has resulted in increased popularity. Despite these plots Mussolini has refused to have any increased protection and has declared that as long as his work is needed for Italy his life will be spared.

CONGRATULATIONS SENT TO MUSSOLINI BY POPE

Rome, Sept. 11—The pope was among the first to send a message of congratulation to Premier Mussolini upon his escape from assassination today.

The king and all members of the government were quick to send their congratulations.

Premier Mussolini meanwhile refused to be kept from his work.

The work of building Italy must go on, the premier is reported to have said as he insisted that the work of the foreign office should not be interrupted.

Members of the diplomatic corps sent their cards to the premier.

The police made constant but rather futile efforts to keep the surging crowds from gathering in the Piazza Colonna before the Chigi Palace.

Throngs waited hoping to catch a glimpse of the premier at his lunch hour but he apparently planned to take his usual frugal meal in his office.

Athletics Play Two Games Sunday With Cleveland's Class AA R. B. Clothiers

Main and Sharrock Will Probably Be Called by Manager Bacon To Do Mound Work Against Fifth City's Strongest Semi Pro Team

The big town versus the sticks.

The biggest town in Ohio versus the best town in Ohio, Cleveland versus Marion. That is the program for Sunday afternoon at Lincoln Park. The R. B. Clothiers of Cleveland will invade Marion for two games with the local Athletics. They probably are coming with the idea that a city the size of Marion could produce teams to compare with those turned out in the Sixth city. For be it known that there is more amateur and semi-pro baseball played in Ohio's metropolis than in any other city in the world. And be it also known that the team which opposes Francis Baron and his mates Sunday is one of the best of the many teams that claim Cleveland as their home.

But there was once a fighter from an obscure town in Australia named Fitzsimmons who made the crack, "The bigger they are the harder they fall." And that is the attitude taken by Marion's representatives on the diamond. The team that comes here looking for something soft is due for a big surprise. And the team that finally beats the Athletics will know that it has been in a tough ball game. The one thing more than any other that has built up the following of the team this year greater than any previous season in the history of semi-pro baseball in Marion is the fact that it is the fightinest team that has ever carried Marion's baseball fortunes.

Manager Lemley of the visitors has sent word that he intends to start Marty Lederer, well known in semi-pro ball in the northern part of the state, in the box with Kohler, formerly of the Three Eye league, behind the plat. Talbert will probably start the second game. For Marion Manager Bacon will probably use Main in the first game and Sharrock in the second with Smith in reserve. Either Dick Brashear or Joe Conroy will do the receiving.

The first game will start promptly at 1 o'clock.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS SEPT. 15

Many Nimrods Obtain Licenses in Courthouse Rush

Squirrel season opens Wednesday, Sept. 15.

With this announcement, County Clerk Harley D. Koons said today that the clerk's office in the courthouse will be open until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will open from 7 to 9 o'clock Tuesday night to accommodate those who are unable to obtain hunting licenses at any other time.

A few licenses have already been sold and a great many are expected to be issued Saturday. The real rush, however, according to County Clerk Koons will come Tuesday, the day previous to the opening of the season.

No estimate of the number of licenses expected to be issued this year has been given but Mr. Koons said today that from 200 to 300 permits would probably be given out Tuesday.

AMERICA KEEPS DAVIS TROPHY

French Challengers Hope To Win Single Match Finals

Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—Having duly attended to the annual matter of retaining possession of the Davis cup, the American galaxy of tennis stars will finish but their string this afternoon by playing the two final singles matches of the cup defense round with the French.

Neither match can affect the result of the series because America clinched its victory yesterday when Richards and Williams added their triumph in the doubles to those of Tilden and Johnston in the opening singles on Thursday.

Therefore all the French can hope for today is to prevent America from sweeping the entire series and this hope is far from a roseate one. Judged by their respective showings on Thursday, Bill Tilden can hardly fail to beat Rene Lacoste in one of today's matches. Tilden seems to have regained all of his old time speed and punch while Lacoste is far from the super-steady individual who won the national indoor title last winter.

ILLINOIS PAROLE SYSTEM CHANGED

Clemency To Be Granted Prisoners Only on Basis of Merit in Future

Tallahassee, Ill., Sept. 11.—The changes in Illinois parole system which has been under fire several times recently are announced by Hinton G. Claybaugh, named recently by Governor Len Small as head of the state division of pardons and paroles.

Paroles hereafter will be meted out to an inmate of Illinois penal institutions on a merit basis exclusively, Claybaugh said.

The announcement came at a conference between Claybaugh and his assistants at Chicago. The new parole chief was appointed following resignation of Will Colvin, who was under fire at a grand jury investigation in Will county following escape from Joliet penitentiary of a number of convicts and killing of a deputy warden.

Governor Small has assured me that I am to have a free hand, unhampered by all personal friendships, politics, alliances or other improper alliances, Claybaugh told his aids.

EUROPE "CRAZY QUILT" OF RACES, SAYS TOURIST

Confusion Overseas Serious Problem, College Head Finds

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11.—Everyone who returns from abroad with the feeling that Europe is one great problem and that no one has or can find a solution for it, declared Dr. L. W. Boe, president of St. Olaf college in an interview yesterday following his return from Europe where he had spent most of the summer studying political and economic conditions. Southeastern Europe is a crazy quilt of races with various national groups which have lived side by side for hundreds of years without changing their racial traits and acquiring any of those of their neighbors. One comes back to America with the profound conviction that this country has accomplished a tremendous thing in assimilating the many nationalities within its borders.

"The self-determination of nations because of its pure idealism is a failure in Europe," Dr. Boe indicated. "The effort has created a new set of problems seemingly just as difficult as those that were thought solved but were really only complicated by the Versailles treaty."

CHAMPION BOUT RESULTS ARE BIG QUESTION OF DAY

Commissioners Include "Don'ts" in Strict Instructions to Fighters

By DAVIS J. WALSH

Philadelphia, Sept. 11—No matter what happens here on the night of Sept. 23, until it would be a [illegible] Jack Dempsey went into his fight as he did against the late Bill Brennan in New York some years ago.

However, neither will the antifight [illegible] be able to charge that he substituted concrete for knuckle padding nor that his trusty seconds were derelict in the matter of keeping the referee duly informed of the progress of events.

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission has disposed of all available post mortems by enacting a series of don'ts for the Dempsey-Tunney meeting.

When Dempsey popped Willard over the boys in the back room were certain that his gloves were lined with zinc, plaster or some substance. The commission disposed of a similar kick back this time by decreeing that the fighters must tape their hands in the ring under the surveillance of neutral officials. When Dempsey left the ring prematurely at Toledo, inspired by the strictly erroneous impression that he had won in the first three minutes of play, the boys decided that a smart gent in Willard's corner would have taken due advantage of this breach of the rules to protest to the referee until such time as Willard recovered from that first round lambasting.

The Pennsylvania commission throws this one out of the window by passing a rule forbidding a second to chide the referee under pain of instant dismissal from the premises. When Dempsey socked Firpo in New York before the man with the bearded [illegible] had fully arisen from the knockdown, the boys made the same slighting remarks about the caliber of the Latin's handlers. The rule on non-speaking seconds applies to this one, too.

As for the Bill Brennan incident, it is a matter of record that Dempsey accepted a thorough coating of shellac that evening until, in desperation, he [illegible] with the rabbit punch and stopped him in the 12th round. The commission disposed of this emergency by barring the rabbit with its dissolute foster-brothers, the kidney and pivot punches.

Having done that much, the commission might go further and pass a rule that its referee must be a good man. This one possibly would be a trifle difficult to enforce but then so will the others if they send some chucklehead in there to handle the show.

It will take one of the best to make all these rules stand up—an experienced, cool and fearless referee who has been under fire at big moments before. At the Dempsey-Firpo affair, one Johnny Gallagher, an obscure official, was sent in to take charge and it was there that the time that John had missed a lot of close plays. Ollie Pecord at Toledo was not supposed to have been exactly a bargain either.

Both of these men, it is admitted, were in a tough spot. But then the really good official is one who takes the tough hurdles in his stride. It is hoped that Tom Gibbons has such a man and doesn't forget his name and address on the night of the fight.

ADDITION PLANNED TO OLD FLORIDA CAPITOL

Structure Erected in 1842 Inadequate for Present-Day Needs of Estate

London, Sept. 11—There is no pomp. Florida state capitol, first completed in 1842 and remodelled in 1920 and 1922, again has become inadequate to house the various state departments and contracts have been awarded for construction of a $300,000 building near the original capitol to which a number of departments will be given new quarters.

The new structure is scheduled to be completed by next April when the legislature will meet. The state fish and game commission, sanitary livestock board, hotel commission and other departments now are occupying committee rooms and offices of the legislature which must be vacated before the next session.

The state road department, which is inadequately housed in a downtown office building, state geological department, now in the basement of the capitol, automobile registration department, now in a part of the comptroller's office, and some other departments also will be moved to the new building when it is completed.

The new building will be of limestone and brick on a reinforced concrete frame, containing a sub-basement and three floors above the ground, to have a total of seventy office rooms.

The state railroad commission has offices in the supreme court building, a handsome structure across the street from the old capitol.

The sixth straight Texas League pennant now seems likely to be the mouse that is going to elude the Fort Worth Cats.

Gettysburg College expects to have its new Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium completed and ready for dedication in November.

JAPANESE WOMEN NOW ACTIVE IN BUSINESS LIFE

Dublin, Sept. 11—There are now 1,100,000 women in Japan engaged in business or professions, according to a survey made by the Social Welfare Bureau of the Home Office. Of these 601,000 are classified as typists, stenographers, waitresses, actresses and sale girls; 98,000 as doctors, midwives and nurses; 78,000 as teachers; and 15,000 as government employes in various capacities. Officials of the bureau say there has been a steady increase in the number of women earning their own living in recent years.

CARD DELIVERED AFTER 14 YEARS

A postcard which was posted in Paris fourteen years ago addressed to Cherbourg has just been delivered to the right place but not the right person. For in the meantime he has died. The card carried only a ten-centime stamp which was quite sufficient in those days and the postal authorities made no extra charge for the delivery since it had been so long delayed.

Boston Slows Up Leaders; Reds Divide With Pirates

New York, Sept. 11—[illegible]

[illegible] Braves [illegible] in the seventh [illegible] McFarland [illegible]

[illegible] ball after Benton [illegible]

The Reds and the Pirates cut each other's throats by splitting a double header, Pittsburgh winning the opener 5 to 2, and Cincinnati copping the nightcap by the same score. Kremer and Lucas were the winning pitchers.

Guy Bush's winning streak of eight games was shattered when the Phillies trimmed the Cubs 5 to 1. Hey Schuerman [illegible] made his debut with the Quakers and was the life of the party, clouting a homer and a double.

The White Sox, who had won six straight games, were stopped when the Browns nosed them out in the tenth, 5 to 4. McCurdy, Chicago catcher, was stopped after hitting his tenth consecutive safety in 10 times at bat, within one of the world's record.

The secret of the success of H. Wills, the great tennis star [illegible] lies in the fact that she plays like a man. When learning the game on the courts of the Berkeley Tennis Club she played only with boys and she found that if she wanted to beat them she would have to play a man's game and not a woman's.

Tom Longboat, the once famous Indian runner, is still in the running game. A press of the great Indian is still giving exhibitions at the Canadian [illegible]

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

[illegible] upon a time as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the [illegible] chanced to see a cute little [illegible] looked somewhat like his [illegible]

"[illegible]" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman [illegible] himself "what have we here? [illegible] is building a house so nearly [illegible] I might make a mistake some [illegible] go in. Perhaps that is why [illegible]—to humbug me. I had better [illegible] careful."

So Uncle Wiggily was carefully hop[illegible] the queer little house, thinking perhaps the Fuzzy Fox or the [illegible] Wolf had made it to play a trick [illegible] him.

"[illegible] I went in there by mistake [illegible]" thought the bunny [illegible].

[illegible] he passed the cute little place [illegible] then he heard tiny voices [illegible] from it—voices he knew did [illegible] the Fox, Wolf or Bob Cat. [illegible] one voice called "Has anybody seen my left leg? [illegible] her."

"Well, I'm sure," cried a third voice "[illegible] I put my right leg on the mantel [illegible] here now."

And while Uncle Wiggily listened [illegible] a little girl's voice cried "Mother, please make Meezie give me [illegible]! He's got it on and he says it's [illegible]."

"[illegible] my tail too!" cried a boy's [illegible]. "[illegible] tail is under the piano!"

"[illegible]!" gasped Uncle Wiggily leaning against a sassafras bush in his surprise. "This is the strangest [illegible] I ever heard of. Some creatures [illegible] their heads and legs and get [illegible] mixed up about their tails! I wonder who they are."

And then out of the queer little house there rolled a fat round little [illegible] of wood. His head was [illegible] as was his body and he had [illegible] arms of wooden pegs. He [illegible] seem to walk, having no legs [illegible] just rolled his fat little body on [illegible] edge for he was round like [illegible]

"Oh hello! Who are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "And why have you [illegible] bungalow so nearly like mine? I [illegible] be humbugged and go in by mistake."

"You are quite welcome to come in," [illegible] the little man with a smile on his [illegible] wooden face "but you [illegible] be humbugged. In fact this [illegible] exactly a bungalow."

"It is more of a stump as mine is," said the bunny rabbit.

"Yes, I know," said the little man smiling more than ever. "But I call it a bungleump. You see it is part bungalow and part stump so of course it's a bungle-ump."

"Oh, of course, yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "But who lives in it?"

"The Wogglejigs," was the answer.

"Wogglejigs?"

"Yes, Wogglejigs. Ho, little boy and girl Wogglejigs, come out and let Uncle Wiggily see you," called the man whose name was Boppy. He was the keeper of the Wogglejigs who were queer little animals made of wood. "Their legs are of wood and so are their heads and tails," said Boppy. "Each night when they go to bed they take off their heads, tails and legs. But in the morning there is always such a rush that things

"Oh, hello! Who are you?"

get scrambled and mixed up and—"

Just then a voice cried:

"I want to come out and see Uncle Wiggily but I can't find my tail!"

"That's Dazie Wogglejig," explained Boppy. "She never can seem to find her tail. You don't happen to have a spare wooden tail with you, I suppose," he asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, but here's a short stumpy lead pencil," offered the bunny.

"The very thing!" cried Boppy and into the bungleump he rolled and a minute later out came stiffly walking on her wooden legs Dazie Wogglejig with Uncle Wiggily's lead pencil for a tail. And then out came all the other queer Wogglejig animals from the bungleump having unscrambled themselves and gotten their right tails, legs and heads at last. And very glad they were to see Uncle Wiggily who was also glad to have such a jolly crowd of happy little creatures living near him.

Later on I may tell you another story of the bunny and the Wogglejigs. But for Monday the story will be about Uncle Wiggily and Boppy—that is if the pussy willow doesn't purr so loudly in the night that it wakes up the canary bird.

PRICES IRREGULAR IN BRIEF STOCK SESSION

Early Declines in Many Bring Them to Lowest Range of Week

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks fairly steady Industrial stocks reactionary domestic bonds slightly higher foreign bonds firm grain fairly steady copper firm oils steady cotton reactionary rubber steady sugar steady pig iron firm foreign exchange irregular

New York Sept 11—Prices were irregular in the brief session of the stock market today with the main trend of the industrial stock leaders downward Selling pressure was most apparent at the start of trading in the stocks which reacted most readily in Friday's final period and the early declines in many of these stocks brought prices to the lowest range of the week

The first of the week end surveys of business to be issued after the Labor Day holiday were distinctly favorable, presenting evidence of a vigorous spurt in many lines of business and almost universal preparation for an active fall trade The stock market appeared to be suffering chiefly from an over bought condition in many of the speculative favorites and to have reached the level of prices where stop loss orders were most easily uncovered Consequently it required only a small volume of selling to create a reactionary movement

Specialty stocks which enjoyed the benefit of strong pool support were able to make some headway as also were a number of the motor and industrial stocks which moved upward on Friday in the face of a general reaction

Studebaker Outstanding

Studebaker was the outstanding strong spot in the latter group moving up to around 61 on reports that a special cash dividend in addition to the regular quarterly cash disbursement would be ordered by the directors at their next meeting

Heavy selling of Mack Trucks caused that stock to decline to 116 compared with the week's high price of 1[illegible] Selling of the stock was attributed to liquidation by some prominent stock operators and pools as well as by large stockholders who received the 20 per cent stock dividend last month

Prices in important sections of the market including the rails and oils firmed up in the second hour Short covering and new speculative buying was reported in stocks which had apparently reached a more attractive price level as compared within the high range of last week Coppers sugars and tobacco stocks appeared more often on the tape Yellow Truck held quite firmly around 31 on heavy trading United States Steel and independent steels resumed their forward movements and tire and rubber stocks also firmed up

Commodity markets were quiet and prices generally steady

Former Marion Shop Man Returns After 29 Years as Head of Two Factories

W. B. Straub, Once Molder with Marion Malleable Iron Co., Now President of California Manufacturing Concern, Now Guest at Sister's Home in Waldo

A remarkable account of notable success in industrial and business circles is revealed in the life story of William B. Straub, native of Marion County, who is now the executive head of two thriving manufacturing companies in Oakland, Cal. Mr. Straub, who is now visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. D. W. Benedict, in Waldo, left Marion more than 30 years ago after quitting his job as molder at the plant of the old Marion Malleable Iron Co. on W. Center st. This is his first visit to Marion County in 29 years.

Going first to Columbus and later to Minneapolis, he continued working at his trade and while in the latter city decided to join the rush of gold seekers then heading toward the Klondike. En route to the Alaskan goal which was drawing a few to riches and thousands to suffering and bitter disappointment, Mr. Straub, then a young man considerably under 30 years of age, found attractions which caused him to change his plans. His trip carried him into California and the beauties of the state together with the obvious opportunities and advantages that it offered proved sufficient to offset the lure of the Klondike. It was a lucky hunch which induced the Marion boy to change his program.

Settling in Oakland, young Straub obtained employment again as a molder and was thus engaged for several years when he launched into business for himself by opening a small shop. From this humble beginning has developed the Empire Foundry Co., which manufactures all types of castings for machinery, mining tools, hardware and building supplies and iron mantle grates.

Adding to the interest of Marion people in the Empire Foundry Co. is the fact that associated with Mr. Straub as vice president of the enterprise is Harry J. Crow, another former Marion boy who is a brother of [illegible] French Crow. He bought an interest in the business a number of years after it was launched by Mr. Straub and has been an important factor in its success.

Forms Another Company

The other Oakland industry headed by Mr. Straub is the Straub Manufacturing Co., which he organized in 1910 primarily for the manufacture of a stamp mill invented by him for use in the mining industry. This enterprise, which is entirely separate from the Empire Foundry Co., has had remarkable growth since its inception and now produces not only the stamp mill but complete dredges used in mining. The Straub Manufacturing Co.'s products are shipped in large quantities not only to the mining districts of this country but to South Africa, Alaska and other points where there are extensive mining operations.

Mr. Straub is the possessor of a medal awarded him at the San Francisco exposition in recognition of his stamp mill invention.

The former Marion county boy received notable mention in a souvenir book issued several years ago by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, the comment regarding him and his business being accompanied by his photograph. His earlier years in Marion County are reviewed and an account of his remarkably successful career in Oakland industrial circles follows. One paragraph of the article reads as follows:

Meets With Difficulties

"Mr. Straub established the business in a little shop of his own and it was not all smooth sailing by any means. Competition was keen, money was scarce and he had to hold his own against large corporations with plenty of capital. Against these odds he stuck long enough to remain in the field to reap the reward which is usual when the qualities of energy, integrity and tenacity of purpose are present. His business began to increase.

"The success achieved by Mr. Straub is solely of his own making, his start having been made virtually without capital and with nothing but his natural ability as a mechanic and his native business instinct as a foundation for the big interests that he now heads."

He was born in the village of Waldo [illegible] years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Straub, representatives of pioneer families of the southern part of Marion County. Leaving Waldo at the age of 14 he came to Marion and obtained employment with the Marion Malleable Iron Co. in a plant located on the site of the present factory of the Marion Malleable Casting Co.

On Star Carrier Force

Prior to going with the Malleable Iron Co. and while living with relatives here, he was for a time a member of the Marion Star's force of carriers. This is an incident in Mr. Straub's career to which he points with pride because of the fact that the late President Harding was then actively engaged in the management of the local newspaper. At the time of Mr. Harding's death, one of the Oakland papers printed an interview with Mr. Straub in which he recalled the days of his services as a Star carrier and the impressions that he then formed regarding the late president.

Mr. Straub will visit at the Benedict home in Waldo for several weeks and renew acquaintances with old friends of his boyhood and youth, many of whom are still residents of the county. A number of the young men who were in the working force of the old Malleable Iron Works at the time he was learning his trade there are still employed in local factories.

Will Visit In East

After concluding his stay in Marion County, Mr. Straub will go to New York City and other points in the East, including Washington, where he will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Peters, the latter being his sister. Mrs. Peters was formerly Miss Josephine Straub, who at one time was a teacher in the local school. From Washington Mr. Straub will go to Jacksonville, Fla., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Collars. Mrs. Collars is also his sister and was formerly Miss Lena Straub of Waldo.

The journey will end with a visit with relatives of Mrs. Straub in Havana, Cuba, from where Mr. Straub and his family will return to Oakland. He is accompanied by Mrs. Straub, whom he married in California, and their daughter, Miss Gertrude [illegible] Straub.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN FRANCE"

Miss Jacqueline Schilley

PARIS, Sept. 11—Evidently the French prefer blondes, for blond, pretty, 17 year old Jacqueline Schilley, [illegible] it was announced, that a jury of American, British and French artists had voted for the prettiest woman in all France.

The election took place a few days ago in the presence of at least 1,000 people who had paid [illegible] apiece for the privilege of seeing the candidates pass before the jury.

The crowd of onlookers as well as the judges were dazzled by Mlle. Schilley's blonde loveliness. She [illegible] afterward that she was very much surprised by the decision and that she is really quite plain in comparison with her older sister at home in Rouen.

The new beauty queen has danced for two years at the Folies Bergere, where she began her career as a Naiad in the stage tank. Then she learned to dance and became a star of minor magnitude.

Her prize for being France's prettiest girl is a visit to the United States and a five year contract with an American movie company.

GANG NEEDING MONEY BLAMED FOR HOLDUP

Chicago Detectives Place Responsibility for $135,000 Job on Saltis-M'Erlane Band

Chicago, Sept. 11—Responsibility for the $135,000 Grand Trunk mail robbery was laid at the door of the Saltis-McErlane gang by Captain John Stege of the detective bureau today.

Stege advanced the theory that urgent need of funds for the defense of the two imprisoned leaders, Joe Saltis and Frank McErlane, prompted their followers to stage the daring holdup. Captain Stege is investigating along this line and promises sensational developments within a short time.

Saltis and McErlane were co-leaders of Chicago's most powerful beer running and alcohol syndicate. Both are now in jail, Saltis here and McErlane in Indiana, awaiting trial for murder. They are in desperate need of cash.

The detective bureau was tipped off several days ago, Stege said, that members of the Saltis-McErlane gang planned to rob the Grand Trunk express which takes a $30,000 payroll every Friday to the [illegible] Products Refining Co. plant [illegible]. Because this shipment was heavily guarded, Stege believes the bandits changed their plans and held up the Grand Trunk mail train.

The robbers operated at Evergreen Park on the outskirts of Chicago. Five bandits entered the mail car of a Grand Trunk train No. 10 and forced the clerks to hand over registered mail containing $135,000 in currency of small denominations. The robbers fled toward Chicago.

The conductor itself, which is in the innermost section of the cable, is one-fifth of an inch in diameter. It will give the cable a capacity of 2,000 letters per minute.

Six flexible copper tapes are wrapped around the copper conductor [illegible]. [illegible] the cable breaks [illegible] current [illegible] and the gap. The purpose of the tapes is to [illegible] the conductor.

LONDONERS ARE DRILLED IN ART OF MASS SINGING

Gibson Young and Eric Godley Head Group of "Community Singers"

London, Sept. 11—The people of London are being drilled in the art of mass singing. They are being roused out of their seriousness and, now the initial step has been taken, they are losing their shyness and enjoying themselves.

The "Community Singers" headed by Gibson Young and Eric Godley are responsible for this movement. Young started it by mounting an old tombstone in the churchyard of St. Martins in the Fields and shouting "Gather round, people. I want you to sing along with me."

He had to sing by himself for a bit, but his enthusiasm and vitality quickly communicated itself to the crowd and soon they were singing old English songs like "John Peel" and "The Bailiff's Daughter of Islington" as though they did it every day of their lives.

Coming Fair Promises to be Largest in Recent Years

Secretary Claims Display of Cattle Will be Greatest

Many New Features Will Be Offered This Year, According to Program; Excellent Race Bill Arranged, with Derby Day as Outstanding Offer

The traditional announcement [illegible] each year that the Marion County Fair will be bigger and better than ever can be made this year with full assurance that it is not an exaggeration, according to information coming from Roland T. Leeper, secretary of the Marion County Agricultural Society and executive head of the annual exposition.

This forecast applies in particular to the livestock exhibit, which are practically certain to surpass anything shown in connection with fairs of past years. Mr. Leeper [illegible] this prediction on the fact that several have enough entries [illegible] to more than fill the barns available for exhibits so that it will be necessary to provide tent [illegible] the overflow.

New Entries

Numerous livestock [illegible] from various parts of the [illegible] who have never had exhibits at the Marion county fair will be represented this year, the records of Secretary Leeper's office show. Among the new ones to [illegible] entries this week are F. O. Petz & Son of Wellington, who will display cattle, hogs and sheep and E. M. Chapin & Son, Norwalk, who will be here with a herd of milking shorthorns.

Five days, Sept. 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 are designated for the week's program but only the first four will be strictly county fair days. All exhibits will be moved out Friday afternoon starting at 4 o'clock and Saturday will be set aside solely for horse racing. This will be known as Derby Day and an exceptionally high class program of running races including seven events will be carried out. This is an entirely new feature introduced for the first time this year, and is expected to become a permanent arrangement. In the past efforts were made to continue all of the fair attractions through Saturday but the plan usually failed to work out to the satisfaction of the management.

Buildings and equipment at the fair grounds are in the best condition in 15 years, Secretary Leeper says. This is a result of an extensive program of painting and repair work carried on during the summer to place the grounds in the [illegible] of condition for the big annual event. As a consequence of these improvements the throngs visiting this year's event will find that Marion County is now equipped with what appears to be a completely new collection of fair buildings.

All of the customary attractions will be in evidence with a number of important and interesting new ones added. There will be the usual midway with various [illegible] entertainment [illegible] fair would be complete. [illegible] state.

Free Acts

[illegible]

The fair will be open on Wednesday and Thursday nights, the grounds to be closed on all other nights of the week. An outstanding feature of the night [illegible] will be elaborate fireworks displays.

The lunch stand concession has been awarded to the Men's Bible Class of Calvary Evangelical Church, and that organization is now busy ordering supplies for serving thousands of patrons. The class will have charge of the dining room under the grandstand and will also serve meals in a large tent to be located in the north part of the grounds near the livestock barn.

The refreshment concession, which includes control of the sale of ice cream, pop corn, lemonade and other confections has been awarded to Charles Sherrick of Quaker City, a veteran in this line of business who has operated at the Marion County fair for years.

STAGE SET FOR MACHINERY AND RADIO EXHIBITS

Farm Implements, Autos, Wireless Supplies To Make Up Interesting Display

One of the largest displays of machinery, farm implements, tractors, autos and similar devices ever presented at a Marion County fair is anticipated next week.

The Huber Manufacturing Co., makers of five important implements for farm and road use, three of them in their first year, promises to give Marion County folk a treat by placing on exhibition their various products.

Among those to be displayed are the modern thresher for light tractor power, the motor roller, the new all-steel Huber thresher and an all-steel bean and pea thresher.

The Farmers Implement Co. of this city will also have its usual special display of machinery and implements for farm work, with several added features.

Ed C. Walters of Marion will display the Fordson tractor.

The Marion Implement Co. is also scheduled to exhibit various farm devices. The Crawbaugh and Van Atta Hardware stores have planned displays, as has the Hadley-Osman Electric Co., Secretary Roland Leeper announced today.

Radio Dealers Plans

A big radio display is being planned for the fair with dealers from the city and county offering their wares for the sightseeing public.

The Metcalf Battery Co. and A. W. Tibbals of this city and H. C. Groll of Waldo have announced their intention of exhibiting radios. Others are expected to be on hand.

The L. T. Robinson Plumbing & Electric Co. of Marion will have on display a farm lighting plant of the Kohler type while A. C. Smith will demonstrate the Delco Light plant.

It is expected many automobile dealers of Marion and Marion County will have their particular types of car under the big automobile show tent on the fairgrounds next week.

According to one investigator, the man who takes a walk alone in New York runs just 6 times more risk of being held up and robbed than if he took the same walk in London.

To be entered in this show it is necessary that the litter of pigs weigh 2000 pounds or more within 180 days after farrowing.

Age of all animals will be figured from Sept. 1, according to the swine show rules issued today.

The rules declare that a senior yearling hog is one farrowed between Sept. 1, 1924 and March 1, 1925. Also that a junior yearling is one farrowed between March 1, 1925 and Sept. 1, 1925.

Farrowing dates for senior and junior pigs include from Sept. 1, 1925 to March 1, 1926 and from March 1, 1926 to Sept. 1, 1926 respectively.

All animals, according to Roland Leeper, secretary of Marion County Fair Board, must be recorded [illegible] loss of age and appear in the name of the owner on the books of their respective associations.

SOCIETY FIGHTS TO BAR NEWS VENDOR'S STAND

Minister Lands Drive To Remove Paper Station of Aged Cripple

Boston, Sept. 11—A movement has been launched to drive a news vendor's stand from Boston Common.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Horton, chaplain of the State Senate and president of the Boston Common Society is leading the fight. He claims the cooperation of Mayor Nichols.

"The Boston Common Society feels, according to Dr. Horton, that the news stand is an "eyesore."

John J. Boyce, 73, a cripple, who conducted the stand for many years has become a property owner and because of his feeble condition has been forced to give up coming down town daily. Two years ago William Monahan, another cripple, took over the stand and a quarrel between the two cripples ensued. Now the cripples have submerged their differences to make a combined stand against the Common Society.

First Saddle Horse Show in History of Marion to be Held at County Fair

Many Ribbon Winners To Be Entered in This Department from Marion and Surrounding Counties; Event Will Be Held Thursday and Friday

The first saddle horse show in the history of Marion will be held at the Marion County Fair, next week, according to the program issued today by Roland Kroger, secretary of the fair board.

Several well known saddle horses are being entered in the show by horse owners in Marion and surrounding counties. A stable of six horses from the Wesley Beal Stock Farm of Bucyrus will be among the entries. The string is under the supervision of Orin Moreland, formerly of this city.

An increase of about 50 per cent over the number at the Fair last year is expected to be entered in the usual horse shows this year.

Several ribbon winning Percherons and Belgians at the Ohio State Fair last week are numbered in the entries of the local county fair. A great many of last year's Marion County Fair winners are also included in the lists.

Draft Horses

W. R. Lawrence & Sons east of Marion who have entered draft horses and won innumerable ribbons in past years at the county fair have again placed several high bred animals on the premium list.

Premiums will be given to five classes of horses at the show which is expected to take place Wednesday and Thursday. They include Percherons, Belgians, grade draft, mules and saddle horses.

W. H. Lust of Pleasant Township is superintendent in charge of the horse show. Judge for the prizes will be Charles Wentz of Kirby, O., a breeder of Belgian horses. He is at the present time the treasurer of Wyandot County.

The saddle horse show judge has not yet been selected.

Three important intersectional contests are included in the University of Missouri football schedule. Southern Methodist University and Tulane University will be met in the new Missouri Stadium and for the third intersectional engagement the Tigers will battle the University of West Virginia at Morgantown.

FORD QUALITY

The quality of Ford cars cannot be judged by the prices at which they are sold—because Ford prices are made possible by conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry.

From mine to market the Ford car is the work of a single organization. The Company owns and operates the mines and forests that furnish the raw materials for its products. This material is carried over Ford transportation routes, fabricated in Ford mills, manufactured in Ford plants—and the finished product is sold to the public through the Ford dealer organization. Thus there is but a single manufacturing profit on the car.

The following statement, previously made in an advertising message, is repeated here because of its great significance to the motoring public:

"If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford, according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design, it would be impossible to offer it at any thing like Ford prices. And it is well to note that even with less costly design they have not been able to meet Ford prices."

If you contemplate the purchase of a motor car, go to the salesroom of the nearest Authorized Ford Dealer and get acquainted with the greatest automobile value of all time.

TON LITTER EXHIBITORS

WE'RE PROUD OF YOUR ACHIEVEMENT!

Only twice in the History of Marion county have litters of pigs been produced whose total weight reached two-thousand pounds.

This year four or five such litters will be exhibited at the Marion County Fair. The banks of Marion County have subscribed for a beautiful loving cup to be presented to the prize winning litter. In addition each exhibitor will receive $15.00 in cash.

All litters registered have been under the supervision of the Extension department of Ohio State University. The pigs were inspected at the end of the first week, weening time and at the end of 180 days. Seventeen litters were entered and four or five are within reach of the coveted prize.

The production of a ton litter is a real achievement for any farmer and the Marion County Bank Company is justly proud that it has assisted Marion County farmers in reaching this goal.

Schools, Factories, Stores and Offices May be Closed Several Days During Fair

Boards of Education in City and County Expected To Follow Policy of Former Years and Close Buildings One or Two Days

[illegible] for the closing of city and county schools, stores, courthouse [illegible] and the like during fair week [illegible] in many instances not been completed according to Guy Hulse secretary of Marion Merchants Retail Association.

Although the local school board has not passed a resolution to the effect that schools in the city will close Thursday and Friday of the fair it was announced today by the office of Supt. Jesse H. Mason that it is probable that the usual plan will be followed and no classes will be held.

Closing of county schools during the fair is in the hands of the various [illegible] boards and no definite arrangements have yet been announced. As a general rule the schools throughout the county dismiss classes for at least one day. The same procedure is expected to be followed this year. It is possible that a few of the schools will be dismissed on Thursday as well as Friday.

Merchants Plan

Merchants of Marion will follow the usual procedure during the week of the fair. Many of the stores will be closed Thursday and Friday afternoons, others will close only one afternoon while a few will remain open each day.

Marion banks have announced that they will close two afternoons of the fair Wednesday and Thursday.

Although no arrangements have yet been made it is almost certain that offices of the courthouse will not be open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons next week, according to officials in the courthouse.

Factories in Marion have never made a practice of closing down any afternoon of the fair and will probably continue with the same policy.

PLAN TO RAZE LONDON CHURCHES OPPOSED

Strong Protests Follow Proposal To Destroy 19 Places of Worship

London Sept 11—Nineteen churches in the square mile of the City of London may be razed to the ground and their sites developed for commercial purposes if a bill which has just passed the Lords and Commons received the Assent of King George.

Strong opposition on sentimental grounds has been forthcoming from many quarters against the destruction of the churches which although of no great historical value include five built by Sir Christopher Wren the famous architect of Saint Paul's Cathedral.

The sites on which the nineteen churches stand are said to be worth about ten million dollars and this sum will be used by the Church for the furtherance of work in other parts of London. The Bill was supported by many influential Churchmen in the House of Lords.

Speeches during the discussion of the Bill in the House of Lords elicited the fact that the main purpose of destroying the churches is to eliminate the unnecessary places of worship and give the City a number of churches commensurate with its population.

Although something like two million people work in the City itself during weekdays on Sundays there is only a resident population of 13000 people with the result that many of the thirty churches at present situated in the City are very sparsely attended and in some cases the only worshippers have been the minister and choir.

TEACHERS IN TURKEY TAKE LANGUAGE TEST

Sofia Sept 11 — Consternation has been created among the foreign colonies and population of Turkey following the introduction of a measure by the Turkish Ministry of Education that all alien teachers in future must pass an examination in the Turkish language.

Any failure to pass such an examination will mean that an alien teacher will not be allowed to teach within the Turkish domains.

This measure will affect thousands of alien teachers in particular those of Greek Armenian and Bulgarian birth, as well as the American colleges.

IR WEEK THEATER ATTRACTIONS CHANGED

-Time "10, 20 and 30" Melodramas Supplanted by Motion Picture Plays

...time has failed to change the ...run of attractions at the aver... county fair, there is a vast differ... between the offerings at local ...at this time and the type of ...tainment provided during fair ...of years gone by.

...until about 15 years ago, when ...picture development began to ...toward its present stage of near-perfection, the fair-week amusement program at the local theater was almost invariably furnished by one of the numerous "[illegible]" repertory companies then on the road.

There was a complete change of bill for every evening, the company being equipped and trained for the production of a wide variety of plays, which were usually of the lurid melo-dramatic type.

The prices were 10, 20 and 30 cents according to the selection of seats, the 10-cent rate being for the gallery which was perched near the roof, probably 100 feet from the stage, while 20 cents paid for a seat in the balcony and 30 cents entitled the customer to the distinction of a seat on the first floor.

The house was invariably jammed to the doors every night and as a consequence repertoire companies regarded it as rare good fortune to be booked in Marion for county fair week.

This was in the days of the old Grand Opera House, which was destroyed by fire about 15 years ago. It was located on the site of the present Grand Theater.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR NIGHT FAIR IS HIGH CLASS

Saddle Show and Three Free Vaudeville Acts Included in Two Special Programs

The night fair in connection with the annual Marion County event will be staged Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Special entertainment will get under way at about 7 o'clock each evening and will continue for at least two hours.

One of the main features of the night performance will be the saddle horse show, the first ever conducted at a fair here. The show will be staged in front of the grandstand shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Music for the Wednesday night fair will be furnished by the K of P band of Prospect. The American Federation of Musicians' band under the direction of Judge L. B. McNeal, will entertain fairgoers Thursday night.

Gus Sun Acts on Program

The Gus Sun Booking Co., of Springfield, O., is furnishing the free acts to be offered for the entertainment of those who attend the night fair.

The headline attractions are Miss Hattie Cole, singer and acrobat; The Steiners, giving an acrobatic act, and the Three Bernards, extraordinary entertainers. The three groups will appear both nights.

Fireworks will be flashed in front of the grandstand on both nights following the horse show.

The grounds are well lighted and many exhibits may be viewed at night, it was announced today.

Members of the Marion County Fair Board said today that they had completed plans for one of the greatest night fairs ever presented here.

It was during the administration of the late I. F. Waddell as [illegible] and the administration of his successor [illegible] Jesse A. Knapp that the county fair began the substantial growth that [illegible] continued steadily with [illegible] headquarters of the fair board were in the offices of Mr. Waddell and Mr. Knapp [illegible] years, the former serving as secretary about 10 years and Mr. Knapp 15 years.

Gambling Banned

A ban against gambling has been enforced in connection with Marion County fairs almost since the venture was first launched, with the exception possibly of a few of the earlier years. The [illegible] rule which has kept out objectionable entertainment generally has provided an important basic element of the fair's great success and popularity.

The fact that many other fairs have lost ground, some having become virtually extinct, is largely accounted for by their failure to adhere to a policy similar to the one in force here.

Mr. Knapp recalls that a number of years ago he was assigned to discuss the subject "How to Conduct a Successful Fair Without Gambling" at the annual meeting of the State Fair Association. He was accorded that distinction chiefly because the Marion enterprise was noted throughout the state for its refusal to admit the gambling element.

In the earlier live county fairs in this section of the state and probably elsewhere were the occasions for reunions attended by people not only from Marion county but from a wide surrounding territory. Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow, Hardin, Delaware and Union County residents flocked here during fair week and the fairs in those places in turn attracted many Marion county residents. This feature has been eliminated to a large extent through changed conditions, older citizens observe.

Started Centuries Ago

Fairs in general, which extend in magnitude from the smaller community events to the great exposition like the Sesqui Centennial now attracting throngs to Philadelphia, had their origin centuries ago in church festivals, according to historical data. Strangely enough it was discovered that those church gatherings provided excellent opportunities for the exchange and sale of merchandise and from this development the present county fair seems to have evolved.

The church fair continues as a live institution not only in America but in other countries but seemingly is of a higher standard than in the years immediately following its origin when some commentator observed that as far as he could observe the church fair provided a place for the sale of inferior goods at excessive prices."

While the early church festival took place in Continental Europe and Asia many centuries ago, the actual forerunners of the modern county fair were staged in England and the idea was transplanted to this country by the colonists who later settled in New England.

In earlier stages of society and in inland countries in Europe, where facilities of commerce are comparatively circumscribed, the bringing together of commodities and dealers at certain times and in convenient places is of utmost importance, and for this purpose various privileges have been annexed to fairs and numerous facilities afforded for the disposal of merchandise there.

English Fairs Deteriorate

Growth of towns in England have made this less necessary and some of the fairs have lost their former splendor and importance, many having almost disappeared. Cattle and horse fairs have declined least of any.

The principal fairs in Great Britain are the August horse fair in Horncastle, Lincolnshire, where many thousand horses are annually exhibited for sale, the fair for the sale of Scotch cattle at St. Faiths near Norwich, the Weyhill fair in Hampshire for the sale of sheep and the fairs at Falkirk, Melrose and Lockerby in Scotland. In Germany the principal fairs are those of Leipsic, Frankfort on the Main and Frankfort on Oder.

In France the fair of Beaucaire was formerly the largest in Europe and still attracts vast crowds.

The great fair of Nijni Novgorod in Russia is at present the most important in Europe, being frequented by buyers and sellers from different parts of Europe and Northern and Central Asia.

As towns and cities grow in America many county fairs lose importance and popularity and in many instances have either been abandoned or moved to smaller communities in the county. In Mahoning County, where Youngstown is the largest city and county seat, the fair is held at the village of Canfield.

There is scant likelihood, however, that Marion will never be without its annual fair, even though the city may grow to several times its present size. The fact that this is the center of a rich agricultural district, providing an ideal setting for annual stock and produce exhibits, is regarded as a guarantee that the fair here is destined to continue existence for a great many years.

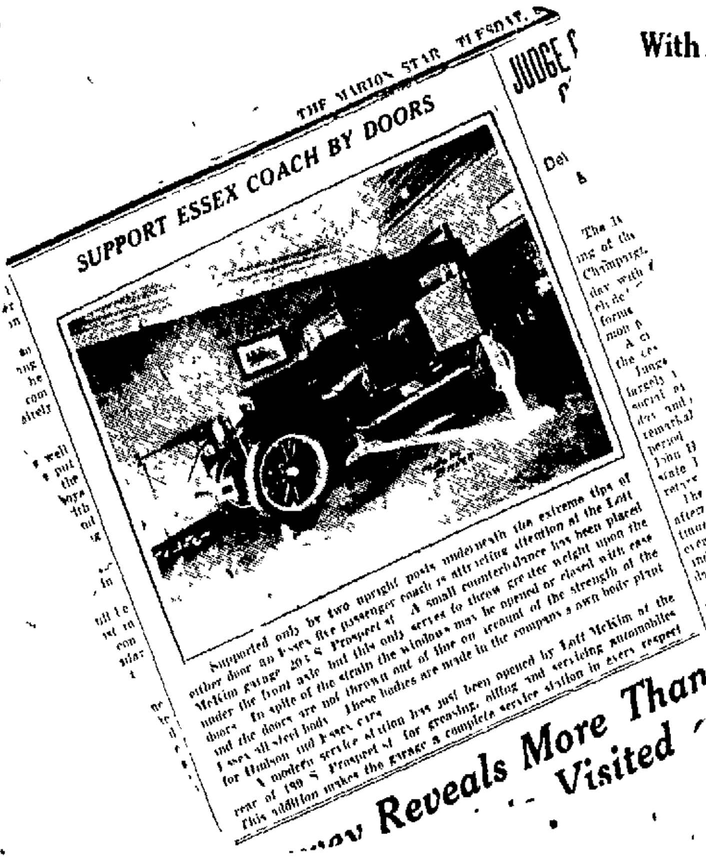
SEE THE NEW ESSEX "6" COACH



THE MARION STAR, TUESDAY

SUPPORT ESSEX COACH BY DOORS

Supported only by two upright posts underneath the extreme tips of either door an Essex five passenger coach is attracting attention at the Lott McKim garage, 203 S. Prospect St. A small counterbalance has been placed under the front axle but this only serves to throw greater weight upon the doors. In spite of the strain the windows may be opened or closed with ease and the doors are not thrown out of line on account of the strength of the new all-steel body. These bodies are made in the company's own body plant for Hudson and Essex cars.

A modern service station has just been opened by Lott McKim at the rear of 199 S. Prospect St. for greasing, oiling and servicing automobiles. This addition makes the garage a complete service station in every respect.

Reveals More Than Visited

With All-Steel, Bolted and Riveted, Clear Vision Body — The Product of Essex New $10,000,000 Body Plant

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true.

And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high-baked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. But only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.
